

PASTOR AND BRIDE TO LIVE WITH LEPERS

They Have Sailed for the Afflicted Colony in India

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Rev. Mr. Davis, a young Buffalo divine of the Evangelical church, sailed yesterday on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, with his bride of a week, their destination being the leper colony at Chudkuri in the Central Province of India. There they will take up a permanent abode, he is director of the colony. The colony is situated under the auspices of the Mission to Lepers in India and the East, and the German Evangelical Missionary Society.

In order to ameliorate the conditions of the 421 inmates of the leper colony at Chudkuri, Mr. and Mrs. Davis are going to the risk of contracting the most dreaded disease known to man. Far out in the desolate plains of India, in one of a straggling collection of low native huts, the minister's wife will spend one of the strangest lonely months that ever befell a bride.

Both Eager for the Sacrifice

And yet the young woman is as eager as the minister for his sacrifice. Before he sailed, Mr. Davis, who is a pleasant-faced young man of sturdy build, dropped in to see Fleming H. Revell, American treasurer of the Mission to Lepers, at the latter's office, 158 Fifth avenue.

"Both my wife and myself are glad of the opportunity that has been given us for useful work in this field," said the minister. "We sail for Chudkuri with hearts full of hope. We intend to give our lives to the work."

Mr. Davis said he had heard of the work of the Mission to Lepers, which is both interdenominational and international in scope, some time ago. He corresponded with William C. Bailey, general superintendent, of Edinburgh, and became convinced it was his duty to "preach the gospel of Jesus Christ to the lepers and as far as possible to relieve their deplorable sufferings and provide for their simple wants."

The minister went to his fiancée and talked the matter over with her. She agreed with him that his mission—only she said "our" mission—lay in India. Accordingly both joined in the request for the appointment.

Although leprosy has been twice declared by the International Conference on Leprosy to be not easily contracted, many missionaries have met horrible deaths while on their missions of mercy. This is in spite of every precaution that can be taken. One missionary, Miss Mary Reed, who is laboring in the snow-capped Himalayas, has been a leper since childhood.

How the Lepers Live

In a colony such as Chudkuri lepers are given little plots of ground and they are encouraged to grow mangoes, lemons, oranges and other Indian fruits. An effort is made to instill a spirit of independence in them. Each man and woman is given 20 ounces of coarse ground wheat a day and 3 cents a week. With this 3 cents they buy all their spices and red pepper and dulse and salt, pay for their barber, and save something to buy shoes or headgear or any luxury they can secure out of their allowance.

Each leper cooks his own food. For

UNTIL HER HUSBAND WAS ABLE TO GET ON BOARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—As all was ready for the last gangplank to be hauled ashore prior to the departure yesterday of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie for Bremen a tall, powerful-looking woman with visage severe jumped on the gangplank. Sailors tried to push her off, and a pier porter intervened, but she remained firm, with her eyes fixed on the landward end of the pier.

Five minutes went by, and the captain was on the bridge waiting patiently for some one to clear the gangplank. Once more a sailor asked the woman to move.

"I won't," she shrieked. "Where is my husband? He has deserted me. See if you can't find him. He is a little man and wears spectacles." The crowd laughed, and some of the pier employees started to lift the beleaguered woman by force, when she saw the object of her wait.

"There he is," she shouted. "Come on you. Don't you see the ship is sailing?" From the crowd came a little man, loaded with bundles, hesitating and almost exhausted. His wife grabbed him by the shoulder, lifted him and his bundles in her arms and ran aboard. Spectators cheered, the gangplank came ashore with a rush and away sailed the Kronprinzessin Cecilie with her full passenger list. The passengers who created the excitement were Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Altes.

THE "FAUNAL NATURALIST" IN POLITICS

ELSIE WILLIAMS
In Juliet at the Merrimack Square Theatre.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Lowell Week" is now on at the Merrimack Square theatre and it has aroused a great deal of enthusiasm among Lowell theatregoers.

Naturally the headliner attraction, Mortimer Snow & Co. in Shakespeare's tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," has won the largest enthusiasm from the patrons of this theatre. Mr. Snow has had much experience in presenting this role alone and consequently his acting was very finished and thoroughly enjoyable. Miss Williams, however, won almost as large an amount of success as "Juliet" being physically well adapted to the part she plays and in her acting very natural and thoroughly interesting. In the tomb scene where she is laid out in her creamy white robes and strewn with flowers, the poignant beauty of it all held the audience enthralled and often throughout the scene sobs could be heard in the audience.

The other feature, Ye Singers of "76," in their delicious songs and dainty minuet, Professor Galloway in his interesting ventriloquistic act, Walter Davis in his catchy songs and clever dances, Joe Harrington and Lucille Miller in their laughable one-act playlet, "The New Janitor," all proved exceptionally interesting and well worth seeing.

The photo-plays are all well up to the usual high standard of this theatre. One of the prettiest films seen for some time is the one depicting the adventures of the little boy and girl who eloped.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

"The best floor I ever danced on and the best music I ever heard," was the remark of a young lady who is camping at Long pond and after coming from the Lakeview dance hall last evening. Her other companions were of the same opinion, and in fact every one who visits the place this season is saying the same thing. True they might for the floor alone, with the remark that the best material available is taken care of by a young man who made a study of the work. He is proud of the condition of the floor and takes every precaution to keep it in the best shape possible. And for the orchestra, well, everybody in Lowell knows its reputation, but those who haven't heard it this season should go at once, for with the acquisition of several other musicians, it is now one of the best ever brought together. Special numbers are being played this week by Messrs. Rismont and Ted and novelty numbers are on every night. Reservations are held regularly afternoon and evening.

THE KASINO

All roads will lead to the Kasino tonight, when the big orchestra will give a free concert of old time music. These concerts have been the hit of the local amusement season, and will be continued late into the fall. While many of the present-day melodies are tuneful, it cannot be denied that they do not average up to the music of 30 and 40 years ago, and that is why the old timers concerts are appreciated, not only by the older people, but by the younger generations as well. Dancing follows the old timers program. Ask the conductor to put you off at Thornbake street.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Torrelli's Dog and Pony Circus is playing at the theatre this week and a clever troupe of animals they are. It is surprising to see the difficult tricks these dogs and ponies go through and this week they are to be a longer work for this clever troupe act, and a rare feat for the women and children. One of the big bits of the show is the performance of Bessie, the unrideable mule, who defies anyone and everyone to ride her and the management offers a cash prize to anyone who succeeds in riding her. An added attraction to the company is the excellent smart comedy act of the team, who furnish lots of fun and as many clever tricks, and John Topp in singing and musical novelties.

COME IN THE WATER'S GREAT! That's what everybody is saying at Willow Dale, where the new public bath house opened last Saturday. It's the latest bath house in this section of the country, and everybody's talking about it. There are separate and distinct accommodations for men and women. Everything is clean, neat and wholesome and there is no danger of accident. Mr.

MOTOR CYCLIST

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—William Shields, a professional motor cyclist, had a remarkable escape from serious injury in a five mile race at the Brighton beach motordrome shortly before midnight last night. He was making a pace of 55 miles an hour when in an effort to improve his position he attempted to force his way in a gap which seemed to have been opened up between the two leaders in the race. The gap was not quite wide enough and Shields' handlebar touched the saddle of another machine. His pace was so terrific that the slightest impact threw his wheel into the air and landed its rider all in a heap on the flat running board from which he rebounded into the grass of the infield.

Rubber ball like, he bounced to his feet and promptly chased after his wheel which was performing stunts along the track the engine keeping it going for a hundred yards before it slid off into the infield with nothing damaged but a pedal.

ABRAHAM COHEN

COLLAPSED AFTER RESCUING HIS CHILDREN

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Several occupants of the three-story brick and wooden double dwelling house at 79 and 81 Porter street, East Boston, had to make a hasty escape about 7 o'clock last night because of fire which was burning in both sides before the occupants were aware of the danger.

Abraham Cohen carried two of his children down the front staircase, which was filled with blinding smoke, and when he reached the sidewalk he collapsed. He was resuscitated by the firemen. The children escaped injury. It is supposed the fire started from a gas leak in the ash house of $1, which is owned by Shirlene Snyder of 215 Havre street. The flames worked up through a light and air shaft and communicated to 79, owned by Frank Rome of 51 Trenton street. A man passing along Porter street and Felix Accomando, who lives on the first floor of 81, helped their families out.

The firemen had lively work for an hour. The damage is about $500.

NEW BEDFORD

AGREES TO TRANSFER GAMES TO LOWELL

The games between Lowell and New Bedford on Monday and Tuesday of next week, scheduled for the latter city have been transferred to Lowell. The very small crowd of late and Manager Conzoling, when asked by the Lowell team to have his team play in Lowell, accepted the offer. By the transfer, Lowell will be at home for five days of the week, games being on for every day but Friday.

On Wednesday Brockton will be at Spaulding park, on Thursday Fall River comes here. Friday Lowell goes to Lynn and on Saturday afternoon Terry and his Lynsters will be with us at Spaulding park.

MILITARY POLICE

WERE DEFEATED BY EX-SHAH OF PERSIA

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A force of Persian military police under command of two Swedish officers was repulsed today while endeavoring to dislodge Mohammed Ali Mirza, ex-shah of Persia, from a strong position he occupied in the mountains ten miles south of Pers, according to a news agency despatch received here today. One of the Swedish officers was wounded and 20 of the rank and file of the mountain police were killed or wounded. The government troops also lost a mountain gun and a considerable number of rifles.

GOV. STUBBS

HAS PROBABLY WON SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 7.—Governor Stubbs probably has defeated Charles Curtis for the latter's seat in the United States senate. Although early returns from Kansas state-wide primary seemed to indicate the race would not probably be decided until complete returns were received Stubbs gained so much in the country districts that it seemed almost certain that he had defeated Curtis by a substantial majority.

Overnight work by the election clerks cleared up the contests in the first and third congressional districts, giving the republican nomination to the incumbents, U. S. Anthony and A. P. Campbell, by reduced majorities.

The democratic contests for United States senator and governor, will require figures from every county to decide them. J. B. Billard, mayor of Topeka, who is running on a platform that pledges re-submission of the liquor question to the voters snatched the lead in the gubernatorial race over night from George Hedges and this morning it was a close struggle between them. W. H. Thompson and Hugh Farrelly were the leading democratic candidates for the United States senate.

THE STATE BOARD AGENT SEES BUT LITTLE HOPE

Of Settling the Trouble in New Bedford—Strike May Be Long Drawn Out

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 7.—Frank M. Bump, special representative of the state board of arbitration and conciliation, who has been in this city watching strike developments, left for Boston yesterday, satisfied that the strike promised to be a long-drawn-out affair from all the present indications.

Before he left, however, he made a final effort to see if the weavers would not postpone their fight for the total abolition of the grading system and return to work pending some sort of an effort to bring about a settlement of the conditions.

Mr. Bump spent a long time talking over the matter with the executive board of the Weavers' union and said that if the weavers would return to work undoubtedly the law relative to grading could be regulated by statute and that a measure would be introduced into the legislature, and the possibility of getting something definite on the books by the first of the year was good. His plan was rejected, for the present at least.

The different textile unions will be called together to act on the question of assessing the members who are working, the fund to be used to assist the members of the unions who are on strike, who have children in the family under 14 years of age.

The first of these meetings was held last night, and the Carders and Ringers' union acted favorably on the proposition, and a good sum will be realized each week.

See Devoll of the Manufacturers' association is still in New York on business. Many believe that the owners may open the gates of the mills following Labor day to give the operatives a chance to go to work and if the operatives do not care to go to work, that the gates will be closed again. The manufacturers will be guided by strike developments.

Yesterday 50 Portuguese workers left this city for Lowell. Other workers are leaving the city now that all hope of an early settlement of the strike has vanished.

Reports from the fine cotton goods market in New York indicate that the strike is being felt by finishers and will soon affect the printers. The stock of gray cloths on hand is being rapidly used up and the situation is assuming a serious aspect all around.

The general trade is anxious to have the strike settled, not only because of the serious shortage a prolongation of trouble would produce, but because of the reported increasing of prices by the mills that are not affected.

There is a sentiment among the relief committee of the Textile council to keep the cases of destitution as quiet as possible, but there is no denying that there are many cases of actual want among the strikers, who have been out of work three weeks and are not members of the unions that distribute strike pay to members.

MULE SPINNER IS ACTING AS MAYOR OF NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 7.—Alderman John Hannigan, a mule spinner at the Wamsutta mills, at present striking with the other members of his craft who came out in support of the weavers, yesterday took up his duties in the municipal building as acting mayor of this city.

Acting Mayor Hannigan, who will fill the office during Mayor Charles S. Ashley's vacation, was elected chairman of the board of aldermen, following his third successive election as an alderman from ward 6. As chairman of the board he is acting mayor in the absence of the regular official.

Always an active labor man, he has been elected alderman as a candidate of both the Citizens' party and Labor party. His position, a most unique one—that of acting mayor and striker—both is said to be unequalled in this state.

Thirteen thousand cotton mill workers, made idle three weeks ago by the weavers' strike for the abolition of the grading system of payment, faced a protracted struggle today. The hope last week that a settlement would be effected shortly was obliterated by the announcement that there would be no conference between the manufacturers and a committee of the Weavers' union in the immediate future. The announcement was a surprise to the great body of strikers and locked-out operatives.

STRUCK BY AUTO HAVERHILL CHILD MAY BE IN- JURED INTERNALLY

HAVERHILL, Aug. 7.—Struck by an automobile, owned and driven by Clyde R. Sanders of Georgetown, at the junction of Water street and Eastern avenue last evening, Martha, 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Annie Deroche of Eastern avenue, was seriously injured, and a horse owned by Alderman Roswell L. Wood, which was being used by Slade & Roberts, was so badly hurt that it was necessary to kill it.

Mr. Sanders was on his way to Georgetown when the Deroche girl, who was playing in the street, was struck by his car and in his successful attempt to prevent the wheels passing over the auto struck the horse, which was driven by James A. Blades. The Deroche child sustained severe bruises to her left leg and right thigh and may be injured internally.

Mrs. Astor in Anticipa- tion of the Stork's Visit

MRS. J. J. ASTOR AND THE ASTOR HOME

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL TAKES FINAL ACTION IN THE STILES MATTER

At the meeting of the municipal council yesterday afternoon an order to transfer $750.41 from the fund for rebuilding the Race street fire house to an appropriation to be called "Buildings, salaries and wages" was read. Mayor O'Donnell said he was going to vote against the order, because it increased the appropriation. Mr. Cummings said that no money had been voted for the repair of buildings at the Chelmsford Street hospital; also at this time of year it is usual to ask for money for repair of school buildings.

"I am not opposed to a transfer," said the mayor, "but I think it ought to be allowed to remain until a later date."

Mr. Brown thought an interesting situation would develop. He said he intended asking for more money to place out the year.

Mr. Cummings said he should insist on his motion, that the order be adopted.

Mayor O'Donnell said he believed the various departments should go as near the end of the year before asking for extra money, and then if money is needed, to ask for it in a lump sum.

On the vote to transfer the money the order was passed, five voting for, Mayor O'Donnell having decided to vote for it.

August 20, 2 p. m., was the time set for discussion of the order to borrow $22,000 for the paving of Plain street. The report of the gas and electric light commission stating that the Lowell Electric Light corporation had been given the right to increase its capital stock was placed on file.

A bill of $300, to pay for the bond issued by Norcross & Leighton for the city treasurer, was discussed.

Mr. Barrett said that inasmuch as but poor protection has been accorded the city by the bond, he would object to paying it.

The mayor brought up the workmen's compensation act, and said he had insured the city for 15 days after July 1st, under the terms of the act. That protection has expired and Mr. O'Donnell asked that some action be taken.

Solicitor Hennessy said he had talked with Harry Sawyer, representing a London liability company, and had not learned a deal about the act from him.

Two departments could alone require the protection, the water department and sewer construction. Six per cent. of the weekly payroll would have to be paid over for the protection of employees doing hazardous work. Clerks would be insured for 2 per cent. of their total pay. Altogether it would prove very costly to the city, said Mr. Hennessy, something like $6000 or $8500 being paid each year for the insurance of certain city employees.

Mr. Barrett moved that the vote taken at last week's meeting with reference to the request that Andrew G. Stiles, city treasurer, resign be reconsidered. Mr. Cummings seconded the motion. On a vote reconsideration was refused. Messrs. Brown, Donnelly and O'Donnell voting against, and Messrs. Barrett and Cummings for reconsideration.

Adjourned at 4:20 o'clock to Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

CHARLES K. FOX

HAVERHILL, Aug. 7.—The will of Charles K. Fox was filed yesterday for probate.

The document, dated June 21, 1911, disposes of property exceeding $500,000 in value. The will names the wife of the deceased, Ida L. Fox, Lamont H. Chick and Robert D. Trask as executors. The only public bequest is that of $5000 to Gould's academy at Bethel, Me., which Mr. Fox attended, all to be used for any memorial the trustees may see fit.

The will provides for the surviving members of the Fox family and for relatives and a number of persons intimately associated with Mr. Fox.

Mr. Fox also remembered his old school chums in Maine and provided for the education of their sons. He left $150,000 to his wife, absolutely, and a like sum to his daughter, Mrs. Marjorie W. Pitcher, the wife of Karl W. Pitcher. The residue of the estate is to be divided between the two. The residence on Arlington square and all its contents were left to the wife to do with as she chooses and to revert to his daughter on the mother's death.

ROCKINGHAM FAIR

Ten thousand dollars in premiums are offered for cattle, blooded horses, sheep, swine, poultry and agricultural products at Rockingham fair, Aug. 20 to 24. The new cattle sheds, costing $20,000, are nearly completed, and the most elaborate and best class exhibit of blooded cattle is assured. Two large exhibition halls are completed for farm products, horticulture and the mammoth agricultural exhibit made by the U. S. government, department of agriculture. The entire agricultural and live stock department is in charge of Richard Patten, master of the New Hampshire state fair, and he is assisted by many leading men and women of that great organization.

BASEBALL PLAYERS UNION HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Dave Fultz, a Former Baseball Player, is President of the Organization

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Professional players having proper representation baseball players of the major leagues in the country have organized a mutual protective association.

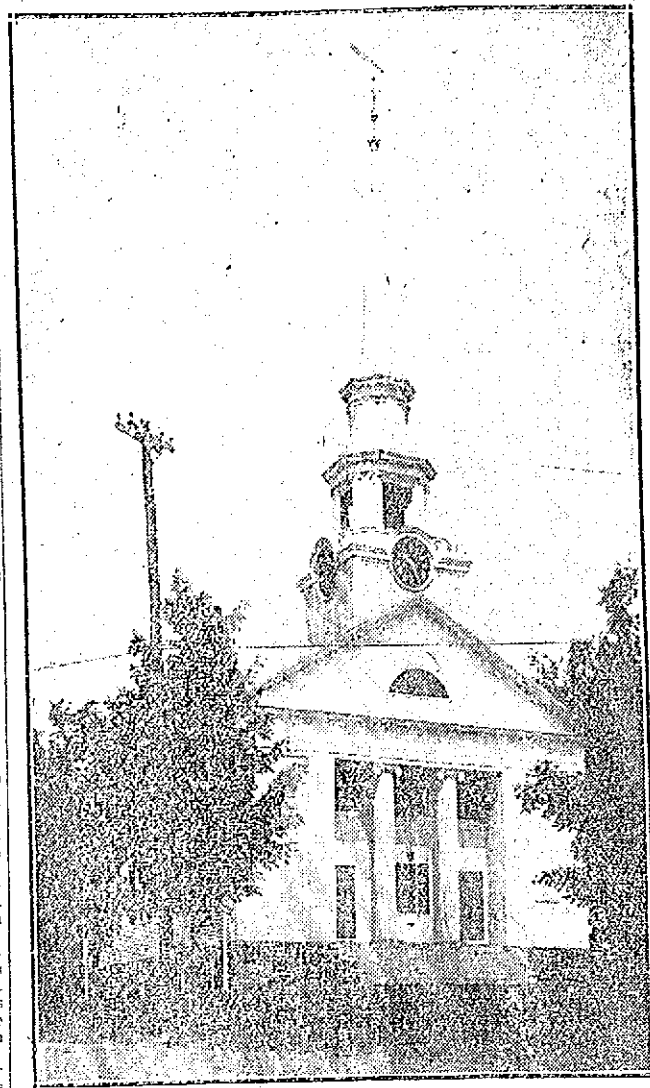

Dave Fultz, former star outfielder of the New York American league, is president of the new organization. It is the first of the kind since the Brotherhood days, that may begin to do more for the players in the future than the National and American leagues. It is also the first of the kind since the Brotherhood days, that may begin to do more for the players in the future than the National and American leagues.

The primary aim of the new association is to enforce the validity of the National commission. The National Protective Association of Baseball Players was organized last week at the office of Mr. Fultz. The preliminary meeting had been held two weeks earlier. At that time the American league players pledged their support to the new movement, far from the National league players. The new organization is a mutual protective association of baseball players, organized for the purpose of protecting the players from the National league players.

Every National league club was represented either in person or by one of its players or by proxy. There had been a full representation of American league players two weeks earlier. By mutual consent of the players of both major leagues, Mr. Fultz was elected president. As such he was empowered to draw up articles of constitution which will be ratified within the next couple of weeks and, when approved, made public.

According to Mr. Fultz, president of the new organization, there is no idea of making a bid for the National league. Mr. Fultz appeared in his somewhat reluctant in discussing the plans of the players. He finally consented to outline very briefly the purpose of the newly formed association. "The players are not antagonistic toward the present form of baseball management," said President Fultz. "There is no menace intended toward the National commission. But it is felt that great good will come of the

THE OLDEST CHURCH IN CHELMSFORD CENTRE

UNITARIAN CHURCH AT CHELMSFORD CENTRE

Has Quite a Remarkable History
—Names of the Original
Organizers

Of the four churches which are located in the historic town of Chelmsford the oldest is the Unitarian meeting house. Like other such churches throughout New England it recalls many an historic fact and is especially a reminder of the old-fashioned division of the Congregational society nearly a century ago. At first glance one would think that the new organization is ready to make known its plans and purposes in full some apprehension may be felt among the powers. But if the scheme is as simple as it appears there appears to be no reason for worry over the future of the national sport.

The first church in Chelmsford was established in 1755. Seven men met the pastor with the "engaged brethren" of the Unitarian church founded shortly before near Salem. The men were: Edward Bond, Edward Kemp, Austin Kell, Samuel Foster, George Evans and Richard Goodwin.

The church at Chelmsford was founded by Rev. John Fiske and it was he who undertook to establish the Chelmsford church upon the proposal of the townsfolk. Mr. Fiske, himself, in his writings leaves an account of the founding of the church at Chelmsford. Among the members signed in his account are: Isaac Linnell, Simon Thompson, William Underwood, Abram Parker, Benjamin Butterfield, and Thomas Chamberlain. In addition to the above names there are other signers, early townsmen, from whom it is highly probable many of the present Chelmsford families are directly descended.

Mr. Fiske, founder of the Wenham and Chelmsford churches, was born in England in 1691, nearly 20 years before the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers in America. He was a graduate of Emmanuel college, and came to this country in 1837, bearing a letter of commendation to Governor Winthrop. Colton Mather, in his "Magnolia," gives an interesting biographical sketch of Mr. Fiske, which might prove of interest to residents of Chelmsford.

Such is the record of one of the numerous historic associations which lend interest to the town of Chelmsford. There are many others.

In the centre of a small park in the village a huge boulder rests. There is an inscription: "Here on the 19th of April, 1775, the minute guns summoned the men of Chelmsford to the Concord of 1775."

On May 28-31 Chelmsford celebrated the 25th anniversary of its incorporation. Consequently it is now 25 years old, one of the oldest in New England.

It is a quiet, quiet village and the inhabitants breathe an atmosphere full of associations that are dear to the heart of the patriotic American.

"Dr. Chamber was well known in Falmouth. By his interest and efforts, the chapel at Menauhant was built and for many years he was accustomed to preach services there in the summer. He was a welcome preacher at St. Mark's Memorial church, where he preached once every summer. By his fine qualities of heart and mind he won and retained many warm and loyal friends."

MILLS ARE CLOSED
ADAMS, Aug. 7.—Twenty-five hundred workers were idle and the four mills of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing Co. were closed today as a result of the strike of weavers and loom-dressers last Monday. The strike was called when four operatives employed in one of the mills of the company refused to join the weavers' union.

A mass meeting of the strikers was scheduled to be held during the day when some definite action in regard to the strike was expected to be taken.

STRIKERS GET OLD JOBS ON THE BOSTON "L" ROAD

The State Board's Decision Gives Them Former Ratings—Men Are Pleased

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The striking Elevated carmen are to return to work on or before August 19 at their former ratings.

This was the decision of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration rendered in a unanimous report made public at 7 o'clock last evening.

According to signed agreements, both the Elevated company and union carmen are to abide by the result.

The victory for the carmen is sweeping. The men discharged for "unsatisfactory service" between May 14 and June 7 are to be taken back with those who went on strike.

Cheer for Victory

Immediately the word of victory spread to the various headquarters of the carmen at the different divisions of the company, intense enthusiasm was manifested. Cheering throngs gathered at the meeting places last night and wildly applauded their leaders.

Similar scenes were enacted at all the division points, where the men had been assembled to await the coming of the report.

Under the terms of the final agreement the Elevated company is to notify the union officers as to the different divisions of the men they want to return to work. Then men are requested to be on hand each day to await the call for duty. They will be taken back in order of their seniority of service. The men who wish to return must give notice to the company before Aug. 15. They are all to be reinstated by Aug. 19.

This is the report of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration in full: State Board's Report

"In the matter of the controversy between the Boston Elevated Railway company and the Carmen's union of Boston and its vicinity.

"The strike which has existed between the Boston Elevated Railway company and certain of its employees was investigated by the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration and certain findings of fact were made, and recommendations were submitted as follows:

"The existing controversy seriously affects the public and the board recommends to the parties that in conference they endeavor by agreement to accomplish an amicable settlement, which shall be alike just to the company and its employees and the public which it is its duty to serve."

"Subsequent to these recommendations the parties met in conference and entered into an agreement for the termination of the controversy which contained the following provision:

"Third: The State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration to determine what men shall be taken back by the company and the time within which the company and the union shall be taken back, their decision to be final."

"In accordance with the terms of this agreement the following communication was received by the board:

Ask for Board's Aid

"State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, State House, Boston:

"Gentlemen—Representing respectively the Boston Elevated Railway company and the Carmen's union, we enclose herewith a copy of an arrangement entered into with the employees of the company, the third clause of which refers to the submission to your board of certain differences still existing between us.

"We desire to have you at your earliest convenience pass upon the subject matter referred to in said third clause, and as you will note your decision is to be final.

"Yours very respectfully,
"Frederic E. Snow,
"Attorney for Boston Elevated Railway company.

"James H. Vahey,
"Attorney for Carmen's union."

"The board pursuant to this request and of the duty imposed upon it by law to endeavor by mediation to obtain an amicable settlement, has heard the parties by their duly authorized attorneys, has heard the testimony of other employees than those represented in the Carmen's union, and determines the questions submitted as follows:

"First: That the company shall restore to their former positions and ratings such employees as desire to return who were discharged from May 1 to June 7, 1912, for the reason designated as 'unsatisfactory service' and those who voluntarily left its service on June 7, except such as have been charged before the court with the offense of being guilty of a breach of peace or acts of violence against persons and property, and have not been acquitted, or if convicted, and appeal taken, have not been acquitted by the superior court.

"Second: That the men who are to be re-employed shall be returned to their employment as speedily as circumstances will permit, but all prior to Monday, Aug. 19, 1912; and all who desire to return shall give notice to the company on or before Aug. 15. The board suggests that the men be returned in the order of their seniority.

"By the board,
"Bernard F. Supple, Sec'y."

REV. E. H. NEWCOMB TO BE PASTOR OF FIRST CON- GREGATIONAL CHURCH

The First Congregational society held a meeting last night and voted to concur with the church which had previously met and voted to extend a call to Rev. E. H. Newcomb of Framingham to accept the pastorate of the church.

Rev. Mr. Newcomb is to succeed Rev. B. A. Willmott, who resigned some time ago. Rev. Mr. Newcomb has supplied the pulpit of the First Congregational church on two Sundays since Mr. Willmott's resignation and the people have agreed unanimously upon their choice.

LOST DOG FOUND

Two youngsters, Francis Raymond Bridges and Fred Desjardins, dropped into The Sun office yesterday and the owner held in his arms a little black and tan dog. He said that the little canine was found on Tremont street yesterday afternoon. The doggie was asleep at the time and they picked him up and came directly to the office.

When asked why they came to The Sun, the Bridges lad said that he was told that the only way to find the owner of anything is to have the matter advertised in the paper. He said "so we just came down here with the goods." The dog is now in the possession of Young Bridges who lives at 67 Worthen street.

"UNCLE" JOE CANNON

Is Still Ready for a Scrap

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Uncle Joe Cannon, though deposed as speaker, is still full of fight. With a bang of his fist on his desk he denounced as "unqualifiedly untrue" a charge by Representative Burnett of Alabama, democrat, that when speaker Mr. Cannon had deliberately led his followers from the chamber to break a quorum and in that way defeat immigration legislation. Before impeaching Mr. Burnett's veracity Mr. Cannon twice asked him to retract. There was no scene.

KILLED BY AUTO

BROCKTON GIRL WAS VISITING HER UNCLE

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Adeline Gordon, 8 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Gordon of 9 Gurney avenue, Brockton, who was visiting her uncle, Louis Gedman, at 326 Meridian street, East Boston, was killed yesterday afternoon by an automobile owned by Deputy Sheriff Albert C. Tilden of 25 Falcon street. The driver, Joseph L. Arthur, 17 years old, of 201 Webster street, was arrested by Sergt. Sweeney and Patrolman F. J. Driscoll on the charge of manslaughter. He was bailed out.

The only witness the police have been able to find is Albert Green of 124 Eutaw street, East Boston. He says the child ran from the sidewalk into Meridian street, where the automobile was coming along at a moderate speed. Arthur turned the machine to avoid her, but Green says she apparently became confused, as she ran directly in front of the auto.

Both wheels on the right side passed over her body. John F. Beale, custodian at the East Boston Catholic Literary association, heard her screams and turned around in time to see the wheels passing over. Beale picked the child up and placed her in the machine. She died in East Boston Relief hospital 20 minutes later.

Young Arthur's father was Thomas Arthur, a business man and well known in democratic politics. The boy has been operating an automobile several years, his mother, Mrs. Josephine Arthur, owning a machine.

MATRIMONIAL

At 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the marriage of Mr. Charles Leslie Tucker and Miss Margaret Blanche Shaw was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Shaw, in Hildreth street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Forrester A. McDonald. Misses P. Ethel Tucker and Agnes Linton Shaw acted as bridesmaids, while Mr. Thomas Shaw, was best man. Miss Doris Anna Tucker was flower girl and Mr. Albert Shaw and Dr. A. E. Shaw were ushers. Miss Minnie E. Tucker played the organ. The wedding march as the bride couple entered the parlor. The bride wore a gown of white tansdowne and veil and carried American heavy roses. Miss Tucker wore pink marquisette and both carried white asters. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served and Mr. and Mrs. Tucker received a large number of friends. Numerous wedding gifts of every description were received and the happy couple left for a wedding trip to various points of interest in Canada. After September 1, they will be at home in Hamilton, Ontario.

MAN KILLED HIMSELF ON RAILROAD TRAIN

Col. Cornwell of Pennsylvania
Was on His Way Home to Face Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Accused of a shortage of many thousand dollars from the estates entrusted to his care, Col. Gibbons Gray Cornwell of Westchester, Pa., commander of the Sixth regiment, National guard of Pennsylvania, and prominent as a lawyer, shot himself through the head and died instantly in a Pennsylvania railroad train in this city last evening.

He was on his way to Westchester from New York, accompanied by William Mullen, a constable, and as the train pulled out of the North Philadelphia station he suddenly reached into a grip, which he had placed on a seat in front, whipped out a revolver and sent a bullet into his brain.

The shooting came as a tragic development that gave some inkling of the extent of Col. Cornwell's entanglements.

Lawyers who have made a hasty investigation of estates for which the colonel was counsel place the losses at $55,000, but say the total amount may exceed $150,000.

At the very time that Colonel Cornwell fired the shot that ended his life hundreds of residents of Westchester were congregated at the railroad station, some to offer their sympathy, and others drawn merely out of curiosity, awaiting the arrival of the train.

In the Cornwell home on Church street the colonel's four little sons, dressed in white duck suits, were happy in the thought of "seeing daddy again," as the oldest, Gibbons Cornwell, 10 years, put it.

Bondsman were ready in the office of Justice of the Peace Faxon to supply any amount asked to gain Col. Cornwell his liberty.

Then came the news that the guardsman had killed himself. The message shocked the entire town. Mrs. Cornwell fainted when the news was broken to her and at midnight it was said was in a serious condition.

Col. Cornwell was arrested in New York on Monday, charged with disposing of bonds to which he had no title. He had been missing since the end of the National guard encampment at Gettysburg and search was started for him Monday morning.

When he was arraigned in New York yesterday he agreed to return to Westchester without requisition papers, and searched his clothes, but nobody thought of the grip. I've been a friend of the colonel's for years, and I didn't think he would do such a thing. No thought of that ever entered my mind. I was so sure the colonel would make no attempt to escape or harm himself that I didn't handcuff him."

PORKY FLYNN

WAS GIVEN THE DECISION OVER
JIM BARRY

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The full 12 rounds of a bout reminiscent for the greater part of a furious set-to between rabid clam paddles brought Daniel "Porky" Flynn of Boston the decision over Jim Barry of Chicago at the Arena last evening, marking the reopening of the Pilgrim A. A.

It was anyone's bout, including the spectators and the referee, for the first nine rounds, Barry had little to show and behaved himself accordingly. Flynn exhibiting what little action was on the program.

James of Chicago, betrayed a few abortive flurries that netted a view of flying gloves at the opening periods of a few rounds, but for the greater part monetary reward, undisturbed. Referee Mattie Flannery warned the pair to forget the correct imitation of a sewing circle in the third round and things warmed a trifle but only a trifle.

In the last four rounds Barry made a palpable effort to keep his blood in circulation. "Porky" responded somewhat and cut loose in the final round, showing what might have happened to Barry earlier. It was a very mournful affair.

The preliminaries were fair to middling. "Spider" Murphy lowering his colors to Teddy Murphy in two rounds in the opening affray. At Ready of Chelsea getting the award over Joe Faren of the North End in six rounds of good hitting, and Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea putting Billy Allen of Syracuse away in the second round of their meeting.

BILLERICA

The selectmen of Billerica acting as a building committee may tonight at their meeting award the contract of the new Footway bridge in their town to the Charles R. Gow company of Boston, who are the lowest bidders for the job. Their bid is $32,500, while the highest bid was $37,700. Two contractors will furnish bonds to the amount of $2000 if the contract is awarded them and they will start work within ten days after the contract is signed.

While the work is being done a temporary foot walk not less than four feet wide with safe provision for foot travel at all times will be built by the contractor. The bridge will be closed to electric cars and buses during the period of construction and the present water pipe is to be carefully supported in its present location until the new bridge is so far completed that a new pipe can be installed in its final location.

They Are All Trying to Keep Cool

Youngsters Following Advice of Doctors

Full many a mortal, young and old,
Has gone to his sarcophagus
Through pouring water for cold
Adown his warm esophagus.

Here's one of the cardinal points of the doctor's hot weather philosophy. If you want to avoid an untimely journey to the sarcophagus don't chase down your hot esophagus any drink in which ice has been placed. If you don't know what esophagus means, here's the definition: It's the pipe which conveys food and drink from the mouth to the stomach. In plain English, it's the gullet.

However much doctors disagree on other points, in this thing they seem to have reached a wonderful unanimity. They all tell us that the very worst way in which to attempt to mitigate the effects of the heat is to swallow iced drinks. The momentary effect is cooling, of course, else no one would dream for a moment of swallowing a mixture of ice and water and flavoring matter. But the after effects are bad. The bodily temperature goes up instead of down, the chilling of the digestive apparatus induces reaction, and the unhappy drinker is weakened and less able thereafter to withstand the enervating and weakening effects of extreme heat.

As has been said, rules for keeping cool vary with the ideas of the individual doctor. But a lot of physicians employed by the New York city board of health announced to the 5,000,000 citizens of the big town during one of the recent hot spells that if they followed these regulations they might be reasonably safe:

Dress lightly and as cool as possible.

Avoid physical exercise
Keep out of the sun.
Drink cool water in plenty.

Avoid alcoholic beverages and tea and coffee.
Eat sparingly of fish, fruits and vegetables, and drink milk and butter-milk.

To these should have been added, according to an authority of high standing:
Try to get sufficient sleep and bathe frequently.

In at least two respects the poor folks of the slums observe these rules of the board of health. They "dress lightly and as cool as possible" and they "eat sparingly." They discard luxuries because doing so costs less than providing them, and they eat sparingly because the present range of prices leaves them no alternative.

But they have other ways. Keeping cool. Look at the pictures. Notice the kid sitting on the cake of ice? He won't keep his place long, because the ice cream will soon dispossess him, but for the few minutes that he retains it he is the coolest youngster on his block and the happiest. Not even little Archibald Moneybags on his father's yacht on Newport is cooler for the moment than little Izzy or Carmelo or Stepan on his temporary throne of ice.

Water is Summer's Salvation
Speaking of ice leads one naturally to thoughts of water, the great cool producer of the summer and the salvation alike of the slum dweller and his more wealthy neighbor. When the sun sends down his rays with a fierceness that threatens to exterminate human life every one turns instinctively to the nearest body of open water. Whether it be the river or seaside or ocean beach near the city or town, the brook or lake of the village, there one may find the youngsters wading, swimming and diving. It is a treat to watch them splashing about and enjoying themselves in innocent happiness of which their elders and little sisters know so little.

We've all heard of the boys' "swimming holes," but who ever heard of the places to which the little girls go and splash? Such places simply don't exist, that's all. The little sisters have to do their splashing in the bathtubs and washbasins.

The problem of aiding the slum dwellers to keep cool and preserve their lives during the heated term is one that makes the philanthropist work to the bone. The "worst worry" injunctions of the physicians. Whenever possible droves of the kiddies are taken, with their mothers, to the seashore and lakeside and on boat rides and trolley rides. Nothing tickles the little ones more than does the seaside, with its deep, cool sand to be dug up and fashioned into all sorts of shapes. Just a little way down lies the water. When that is reached the sand comes up in thick, heavy mud that is just too nice for anything for building purposes. Give a little one of four or five a pail and shovel and let him dig while the cooling sea breezes prevent him from becoming overheated and you have solved one of the problems of summer philanthropy. The preliminary step is getting the kid to the beach.

The beach is also the objective point of the older part of the city's inhabitants. Rich and poor, if the city is fortunate enough to be situated near the seacoast. New York is more blessed in this respect than any other city in America and probably in the rest of the world. Leading in almost every direction from the metropolis are routes ending in places "swept by ocean breezes" or by the cooling air from hill and mountain. In recent years transportation companies have been aiding the philanthropical agencies in getting the children of the slums within reach of the life giving sea breezes. For instance, the New York subway recently offered to give free rides from downtown to Van Cortlandt park and return.

But, after all, it is not the kiddies of the big cities who suffer most from the heat. Nowadays even the poorest and most ignorant of foreign mothers know something of summer hygiene, thanks to the efforts of public boards of health and private agencies. At most every city has its fresh air funds to give mothers and babies and little ones past the baby stage their days' outings that do so much good. Greater supervision of food supplies has lessened the peril from unripe and decayed food, and there are public baths to supply the water needed to mitigate the heat's effects.

Terrible Slum Conditions

For the older city dwellers comparatively little has been done. Work goes on in summer as well as in winter, and the sweatshop of the ditch is a fearful place for huddled humanity when the mercury mounts to the 90 mark. Country folk who have never gone slumming in summer can form no idea of the terrible conditions in the poorer city districts, especially at night. Then sleep fairly becomes impossible, and the poor man and woman obey literally the Biblical injunction. "Take up thy bed and walk" in the endeavor to find coolness. Whole families sleep, or try to sleep, on chairs in the cool smell of the streets or on stretchers in front of houses, on roofs and on fire escapes. There is little in sociological experience more pathetically interesting than a summer trip through the slums.

Of course Fifth avenue and Michigan avenue suffer from the heat as well as the ghetto and the Italian district. This year clothing experts have gone on record as saying that much of the suffering of the made inhabitants of the big American cities is unnecessary and self inflicted by our absurd methods of dress. Women know how to dress in summer, say these persons, with muslin and flimsy materials and lightweight garments. But men—

Comfort Versus Style
"The chief reason why men suffer from the heat in summer time," said one of the buyers of men's clothing for a large department store, "is that they are willing to sacrifice comfort for style. But our sales show that men are coming around to a realization of the fact that it is to their advantage to wear suits of linen, silk and mohair. Today we sell five hundred such suits to fifty sold five years ago. The greater number that appears on the street the more there will be bought by men as they get away from thinking the wearing of silk, linen and mohair suits is odd and radical. Excellent results are also being produced by advertising for the purpose of converting men to see their comfort and coolness."

"The wearing of linen and silk suits instead of wool," said another head buyer, "is not a question of style, but one of common sense and comfort. Linen and silk suits are cool and dressy looking, even though they do not have the shape of the heavier materials of the so-called summer suits worn by most men. In the past American men have looked too much to shape, but the popularity in the past year or two of the English clothes, with their soft, lumpy look, has paved the way for suits of such materials as the flannels, silks and wools that are having an unprecedented sale this summer. Men need to be led away from the ordinary summer suits to those of light weight, and advertising combined with buying on the part of more men than ever is accomplishing the seemingly impossible."

FIRE APPARATUS TO BE PURCHASED

Commissioner Barrett Given Authority
BY THE MUNICIPAL COUNCIL
Hearings on Petitions for Pole Locations

At a meeting of the municipal council held yesterday Commissioner Andrew E. Barrett was voted authority to contract for three combination hose and chemical automobiles for the fire department to be paid for out of the fire department appropriation, the contract or contracts to be made through the purchasing agent's office.

The meeting of the municipal council was called to order by Mayor O'Donnell at 2:30 o'clock yesterday. The roll was called and the first business taken up was the hearing on petitions for pole locations.

places where it is possible, in compliance with the request of the park commission.

A hearing on the petition of the N. E. T. & T. Company for the erection of more poles on Lexington avenue, between the boulevard and Varum avenue, was held and the matter referred to the commissioners.

There were several remonstrants who objected to the location of two poles on Columbus avenue, between Walker street and 34 Columbus street, petitioned for by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. Among those to remonstrate were Patrick D. McCarthy, John Q. Adams, Frank Penabody, Eva M. Lombard, Mrs. K. E. Gardner, Edward D. Shattuck and others. Several spoke against the erection of the poles, while others sent letters, notifying the commissioners of their opposition. The matter was subsequently referred to the proper commissioners.

On the petition of James W. Marshall for permission to move a house from 58 Swan street to 14 London street, the commissioners voted that the prayer of the petitioner be granted.

H. C. Gerard was voted the privilege of keeping and storing gasoline. J. N. Dows was also granted the right to keep gasoline.

The petition of J. T. Ashton that Orleans street be accepted was referred to the commissioner of streets and highways.

Permission was granted the Bay State Street Railway Company to relocate a pole on Beacon street.

A. P. Dragon was appointed a constable and the appointment was confirmed.

The mayor read a communication from the board of health relative to a sewer in the northern part of Dutton street. The board recommended the building or extension of the sewer. The communication was accepted.

An order for a pole location for the Lowell Electric Light corporation at the corner of Locke and Gorham streets was adopted.

The mayor read a communication from the commissioner of finance relative to Lowell's share in the expense of grade crossings in School, Walker and other streets and also communications from Deputy State Auditor Hawley in which it was stated that the city's share is ten per cent of the whole, or $20,113.51. The matter was referred to Commissioner Donnelly.

The mayor then read opinions by the city solicitor as requested by the municipal council. The opinions appear elsewhere.

The board of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for conductors in East Merrimack, Fayette, Andover and other streets was accepted.

Automobiles for Fire Department.

Alderman Barrett asked permission to purchase, through the purchasing agent, three combination hose and chemical automobiles. He said there would be no loans connected with the purchase because, he said, he did not believe in paying for apparatus that would not live as long as the loan made for its purchase. The machines, he said, would be paid out of the department revenue.

"In the water department, which is connected with the fire department," he said, "we have a fine repair shop and it is my intention to have the repairs on machines in both departments made at this repair shop."

"I intend to have automobile drivers on the machines because I have found by investigation, a big percentage of cost is due to the fact that men operating the machines are not familiar with the mechanism of the machines."

"I would place the machines at Pawtucketville, High and Branch streets, or, perhaps, if it was considered more feasible, we might put one in Palmer Street."

"There is a movement for a new fire house in the Oakland, and by placing a machine in the High street house the Oakland district could be very well cared for. I advocate this because I think it is along the line of economy."

"I have been to a great many cities and I have not found a city opposed to the installation of automobile fire apparatus."

"Would you retain the three fire engines?" asked Mr. Cummings.

"Yes, they would be retained," answered the mayor.

"Pawtucketville would not be left without a steam fire engine," asked Mr. Cummings.

"Engines," he said, "are an expensive luxury and I would be very much opposed to having any more of them. We will retain what we have and keep them in good condition and ready for service at a moment's notice. The service at the country is going every day in the country is going into the automobile line, because of quick action and the automobiles can answer a great many more alarms than can horse apparatus. One automobile can answer more alarms than five pieces of horse apparatus."

Permanency of Callmen

Commissioner Brown asked Commissioner Barrett if he had said that it was his intention to get rid of the call men and Mr. Barrett said that that was not his intention, nor had he made any such statement to anybody.

"There are call men in Lowell who are valuable men to the department," he said, "and I do not propose to cripple the department by discharging them. I do not say, however, that any more call men will be engaged."

Mr. Barrett said he thought there was ample opportunity to improve the running card. "There are houses now that answer more than twice as many alarms as do other houses, and that can be remedied," he said.

The order granting the requested authority was adopted.

The order to lay a sewer in Dutton street from the end of the present sewer, westerly about 430 feet was adopted. The sewer will cost about $3000.

Escaped Injury

CHILD FELL A DISTANCE OF 30 FEET

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—To fall 30 feet to the ground without receiving any visible bruise or injury was the experience of little two-and-one-half year old Herbert Romp yesterday afternoon. The child was taken to the city hospital, where it was feared for a while that there might be internal injuries.

Shortly after noon yesterday Mrs. Mary Barlow, who had been placed in charge of the child by her father, Carl Romp, climbed up to the roof of the three-story wooden flat building in the rear of 45 Longwood avenue, Roxbury, to hang out some clothes. Herbert toddled along behind her. A moment later Mrs. Barlow turning around, saw the child at the edge.

"Herbert, come here," she cried. "Keep away from that edge or you will fall over."

At the same time she started towards the child. Herbert, laughingly stood up, lost his balance and disappeared into the narrow passageway which separates the building from the adjoining residence.

That the child struck no obstructions in its fall is considered remarkable. He passed on the soft ground, barely catching a corner of a paving nearby and received only a severe shaking. Mrs. Barlow ran downstairs, her cries arousing the neighbors. The child was picked up and taken to the city hospital. While there were no external marks, the physicians were afraid of internal injuries and kept him at the hospital over night.

The child's mother is dead. The father, Carl Romp, lives at 3 Jay street, South Boston.

Romance Revealed

BY THE DEATH OF A MALDEN MAN

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The death of William E. Sullivan, for the past five years one of the best known grocers in Malden, brings to light a real romance. Sullivan was in reality Alfred Wanstall, the long lost son of a prominent English vicar, and scion of one of the most ancient English families.

This fact was known only to Sullivan and his wife, and they have kept it secret all the years of their married life. They have one daughter, Violet, aged 10 years.

At the age of 15, Sullivan, or Wanstall, following a disagreement with his father, ran away from his home in Walton, near Liverpool, Eng., and went to sea. He took the name of Sullivan and signed as ordinary seaman on a number of ships.

For several years he followed this profession, circling the globe many times, and finally rose to the rank of mate. Finally he landed at the Charlestown navy yard and became a rigger.

Shortly after this he married Mrs. Edward Faulkner, formerly Miss Jennie Grant, of the Linden section of Malden. He still retained the name of Sullivan, but told his wife of his real name and his history. They decided to retain the name of Sullivan.

Yesterday, at the age of 45 years, Mr. Sullivan died at his home at 591 Lynn street, from tuberculosis. Mrs. Sullivan said that he was too proud to write to his parents, but that she would do so and tell them of his end.

Court Apologized

TO WOMAN SUFFRAGIST WHO WAS JAILED

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Ida Kirland, a woman suffragist, living at the Darlington apartments, No. 225 West One Hundred and First street was discharged yesterday with an apology, by Magistrate Herbert, of the Woman's Right court, after she had been arraigned for disorderly conduct.

According to Mrs. Kirland, she and a friend had been shopping and stopped off at Ninety-first street and Broadway. While her friend went to attend to some business affairs, she waited for her at Healy's restaurant. While there she became engaged in a talk on the suffrage question, and the manager, Charles McManus, had her put out. This excited her to a considerable extent and she continued talking about her rights to those who had collected on the sidewalk.

Policeman Neuschaefer thought she was making too much of a disturbance and sent for a patrol wagon. She was taken to the One Hundredth street police station, charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct. Inasmuch as Mrs. Kirland never drinks, she was much incensed over the charge. She claims that she was roughly handled by the policeman who had brought her and made a charge against him.

WIVES DISAPPEAR

IN BEACH MYSTERY OF ATLANTIC CITY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Joseph Fulton, Jr., 23 years old, and Mrs. Thomas Cunningham, 24 years old, have mysteriously disappeared. Their clothes have been found in a bathhouse in Atlantic City. A queer fact is that the women wore the oldest clothes they owned when they entered the bathhouse.

That was Sunday afternoon. The ocean was like glass, and the beach was patrolled by numerous life guards, who declare it would have been impossible for two women to drown and not be seen.

The first news of the mystery came yesterday, when Fulton was notified that his wife's clothing had been found. Accompanied by his father, he went to Atlantic City, where he identified the clothing of his wife and also that of Mrs. Cunningham.

The women went to Atlantic City attired in their best gowns, taking lounging gowns with them. It was the latter that were found in the bathhouse.

Mrs. Fulton leaves a three-year-old boy, while Mrs. Cunningham had a girl one year older.

BIG VERDICT

WAS WON IN A PATENT SUIT YESTERDAY

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Judge Dodge, sitting in the United States district court yesterday, issued a judgment for $405,175 in favor of Professor Reginald S. Fessenden, the wireless inventor, against the National Electric Signaling company. The professor brought suit against the company for breach of contract.

On motion of Robert M. Morse, counsel for the defendant, the court ordered a stay of execution of the judgment until Aug. 21.

Following this action of the court Professor Fessenden filed a bill in equity in the district court seeking to secure eighty-five patents on wireless apparatus, which are now held by the defendant company to satisfy the judgment of $405,175.

SUFFRAGETTES GUILTY OF FIRING THEATRE

Four on Trial in Dublin—Woman
Accused of Throwing Hatchet
Will be Tried Today

DUBLIN, Aug. 7.—Four militant suffragettes were put on trial here yesterday on the charge of having committed serious outrages at the time of the visit to Dublin of the British prime minister.

Gladys Evans was found guilty of setting fire on July 18 to the Theatre Royal, where Mr. Asquith was scheduled to speak the following day on home rule. The charge against Gladys Evans, who was accused of being an accomplice of Gladys Evans, was withdrawn, while Leslie Baker, also charged as an accomplice, pleaded guilty to damaging property.

The jury disagreed in the case of Mrs. Mary Leitch and she will be tried today on the charge of wounding John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, who was hit by a hatchet that was thrown at the prime minister's carriage while it was proceeding with the ministerial party to a hotel. Sentence was reserved in the case of the convicted woman.

A great crowd filled the courtroom and gathered outside. Timothy Healy, chief counsel for the women, was hooted when he entered. He demanded the exclusion from the jury of all members of the Society of Molly Maguires. He said that he refused to be incited by them and did not doubt that they were there by the government's orders.

The attorney general for Ireland, C. J. O'Connor, with three assistants, conducted the prosecution. He described the attempt to burn the theatre and said it was only by a miracle that it escaped destruction. Witnesses testified to seeing Gladys Evans and another woman putting oil on the carpet and box curtains and trying to set them on fire and also to putting matches in a cinematograph box.

The police testified that the first performance was ended and the house nearly empty when the attempt was made. The Evans woman struggled when arrested, and said: "This is only the beginning. There will be more explosions at the next performance."

Miss Evans declared that she had gone to the theatre for the purpose of burning it. A cabinet member, C. E. Hobhouse, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, had told them that they would be justified in doing so.

Mr. Healy's cross-examination developed the assertion that Mr. Hobhouse in the course of a speech had said that the suffragettes would accomplish nothing until they began to burn houses. Mr. Healy in addressing the jury said that Miss Evans was not a criminal.

"She is one of those," he added, "who obtain a right to vote for the selection of the members of parliament, who from what I have seen of them are not the extraordinary body of sacramental persons as they imagine themselves."

The police testified that the first performance was ended and the house nearly empty when the attempt was made. The Evans woman struggled when arrested, and said: "This is only the beginning. There will be more explosions at the next performance."

Miss Evans declared that she had gone to the theatre for the purpose of burning it. A cabinet member, C. E. Hobhouse, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, had told them that they would be justified in doing so.

Mr. Healy's cross-examination developed the assertion that Mr. Hobhouse in the course of a speech had said that the suffragettes would accomplish nothing until they began to burn houses. Mr. Healy in addressing the jury said that Miss Evans was not a criminal.

"She is one of those," he added, "who obtain a right to vote for the selection of the members of parliament, who from what I have seen of them are not the extraordinary body of sacramental persons as they imagine themselves."

The attorney general for Ireland, C. J. O'Connor, with three assistants, conducted the prosecution. He described the attempt to burn the theatre and said it was only by a miracle that it escaped destruction. Witnesses testified to seeing Gladys Evans and another woman putting oil on the carpet and box curtains and trying to set them on fire and also to putting matches in a cinematograph box.

GIRL JILTED

BY MAN WHO TOOK HER MONEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—After relieving his bride-to-be of some $200 just before the marriage ceremony was to take place yesterday in St. Mark's church, Passaic, Frank Slaving, of 133 Fourth street, attempted to leave her and go to Garfield, a suburb of Passaic, where an eighteen-year-old blonde-haired maiden awaited him.

Slaving had been courting Miss Katie Billouis, of 112 Second street, for the past eight weeks. He learned about that time that Miss Billouis had a little money.

She went to the priest with Slaving and just before the ceremony he escaped. A constable found him in another home, where another maiden was preparing for the marriage.

On a charge of taking money under false pretense, Slaving was brought back to this city, and is now in the county jail in evening dress, awaiting the action of the grand jury.

DIVORCE EVIL WORST SAYS CARDINAL GIBBONS

Maryland Prelate Declares That It is a Fearful Menace to Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Before starting yesterday from Brooklyn for Southampton, L. I., where it has been his custom for several years to spend the month of August, Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore granted a two minute interview. The cardinal arrived in Brooklyn on Monday and was the guest over night of the Right Rev. Joseph S. Duffy, an old friend, at St. Agnes' rectory inACKET street. The monsignor and his assistants congratulated the cardinal over the recent celebration of his seventy-eighth birthday and on his hale and hearty appearance in spite of his advanced years. The cardinal went yesterday forenoon to Southampton in an automobile with Mr. Duffy.

"Mr. Duffy," said the cardinal, "tells me you want an interview. What subject shall we discuss? You leave the choice to me? Well, I think two minutes devoted to the discussion of the greatest evil of the age—the greatest menace to the continued success of our great nation will be using our time as the Heavenly Father bids us do. We will talk on divorce."

"Divorce," as you doubtless know, is not recognized by the Roman Catholic church. The attitude of the church on this grave subject has been the subject of much misunderstanding and unfair criticism. Many claim the law to be a harsh one and not in accordance with domestic harmony. To that I will only say it is better to have a few superstitious than recognize as proper that which asserts the very bulwark of civilization—the holy bonds of matrimony.

"The church does recognize separation when a couple find their temperaments are of a conflicting nature and domestic harmony is not possible between them. But the church cannot and will not recognize a system that tends to the dissolution of the bond between man and wife."

"Of the prevalence of divorce in the United States I have much to say, but time presses and will not permit. Here I can only say that I deeply regret the evil has gained such a strong foothold in our beautiful country and hope for the day when it is no longer a dreadful menace at the very doors of our homes."

Before starting for Southampton the cardinal was driven through Prospect park and down to Coney Island. There he took in with keen eyes as he passed along Surf avenue the various attractions and noted the various improvements which have sprung up since he visited Coney Island some years ago. After a run to Brighton Beach and Rye Beach there was a drive through the upper section of Brooklyn before the run down to Southampton.

During his sojourn at Southampton the cardinal will be the guest of the Rev. Francis J. O'Hara at the rectory of the Church of the Sacred Heart. Before leaving Brooklyn Cardinal Gibbons made tentative arrangements with Mr. Duffy to be present at the dedication of St. Agnes' church in November and recognize as proper that which as-

SERG. CARNEY

EXPECTS BRISK BUSINESS AT RECRUITING STATION

The month of August started off well at the local recruiting station on Middlesex street. During the past month the number of recruits dropped considerably, but Serg. Carney, who is in charge of the station, is of the opinion that the present month will be a very good one. The army is still in need of men and active recruiting is the order all over the states. The local office is doing its single to increase the ranks, and it is expected that before the snow falls all arms will be completely filled.

The cause of the present order to accept recruits is due to the fact that a number of enlistments are expiring, and while many re-enlist there are quite a number who are leaving the service at the completion of their term.

REPAIRING BRIDGE

The work of repairing the Pawtucket bridge is going along in fine style. The lower walk on the right hand side of the structure is being torn up and will be replaced by new material. Several pipes will be installed, and other alterations made. This morning there was a large crew of men at work on the bridge and it is expected that the job will be finished before long.

SALISBURY BEACH RESERVATION

There is a great deal of interest all through the Merrimack valley in what the Salisbury Beach commission is going to do with the beach. The commission was appointed to assume control of the beach and make it a state reservation. The reason for this action was that a syndicate had secured a title to the beach with power to sell lots which power had not been granted to any of the parties that previously controlled the beach. The beach was originally deeded to the commoners of New England in colonial days, and they were to hold it perpetually for the people, thus having no power to sell it outright. They had, however, leased lots along the beach from the Merrimack river to the New Hampshire line, but the present syndicate secured through legislative enactment the power to sell lots, and as the leases of the lots expired, there was nothing left for the cottage owners to do but to abandon their buildings or purchase the lots at the prices fixed by the present syndicate. In this predicament the lot owners appealed to the legislature for relief, and the proposition to make the beach a state reservation was made law on condition that the cities and towns in the Merrimack valley shall be responsible for any deficit that may occur as a result of the changes which the commission may hereafter undertake.

Salisbury Beach is susceptible of vast improvement, the surf on what is known as the North End is probably the best in New England, but on the South End there is a strong undertow and bathing at high tide is very dangerous. There is a grand walk on either side of the center for about a mile, and it was the intention of the syndicate to continue this from end to end of the beach. If the syndicate is obliged to relinquish the work, the improvement will probably be carried on under the direction of the commission. There is great need of a boulevard in the rear of the cottages from Black Rocks to Hampton Beach. This could be constructed at a moderate expense as the ground is level and sandy, and the course for the greater part of the way would follow an old road that is at present impassable to automobiles on account of the deep sand.

Once the commission assumes control of the beach it is probable that improvements will be made gradually from year to year, and in the course of ten years the beach will be one of the most attractive in New England. There is no doubt whatever about the beach receiving all the necessary improvements, and it is believed that the cities of Lawrence, Haverhill and Lowell, mainly responsible for any possible deficit, will never be called upon to pay a single dollar. This is the opinion of members of the commission who understand the situation thoroughly. Their only fear is that some legal proceedings may delay the work longer than they expected.

The commission has thus far been criticized for inaction. It has done practically nothing except to make an offer to the syndicate owning the beach. To this offer the syndicate has not yet made any answer except to claim that the act is unconstitutional and will not stand in the courts. The commission, however, has no right to assume any such thing, and hence it will seize the beach at some time in the near future. The syndicate will then have an opportunity to take the matter to court and test the constitutionality of the act; but there is little ground on which to urge any such claim. The commission can seize the beach under the provisions of the act, and the question will afterwards come up: What will be a fair price to compensate the syndicate? A very considerable number of cottage owners have already purchased lots from the syndicate at a good price, and the syndicate will continue to sell the lots wherever it can. One would suppose that as soon as the commission had been appointed it would have notified the syndicate to stop selling lots. Some of those who have purchased lots entertained the idea that the commission will have their money refunded and the price fixed by appraisal. Of this, however, there is much doubt inasmuch as the lot owners having purchased voluntarily and paid their money, it is difficult to see how the state can break the bargain and cause the syndicate to refund the money thus paid.

ROOSEVELT'S CONFESSION OF FAITH

The Bull Moose party is now before the country and Colonel Roosevelt as its leader will soon start out upon his campaign. In his "confession of faith" he has very studiously touched upon practically all the evils and abuses from which the people of this country suffer today. He assails both the democratic and the republican parties as unworthy of support, and he holds out as the only salvation of this country the support of the party of which he is the head.

It is easy to anticipate the methods of campaign that he is to adopt. They will be of the same character as his speeches leading up to the Chicago convention. He will play the role of the demagogue, but will assume all the dignity of another Moses whose mission it is to lead the people of this country back to the promised land of the new America and the new liberties with which he is to invest them. He is to deliver the people of this country forever from all abuses, from all calamities, from all panics, from the trusts, the money power, the speculators and the combination known as the "interests." According to Roosevelt his party will be the great panacea for all the evils of government and misadministration that we suffer today. When Roosevelt was president of the United States he had an opportunity to remedy abuses and to stamp out class privilege, but instead of so doing he simply issued long harangues much in the same strain as his confession of faith at Chicago.

The question now to be considered is, whether the unwary voters of this country can be relied upon to judge of the Roosevelt clap-trap intelligently; whether they have the magnanimity not to be led away by his plausible promises and his attack upon the other parties.

It would appear that a great many people like to be humbugged by glowing promises of prosperity to come, of reforms to be effected and an era of business activity and prosperity to be established. Who has not heard demagogues make such promises as these only to have them broken and disregarded after election?

When Col. Roosevelt puts forth his progressive party as the only hope for this nation, he is misleading the people, and he is playing the role of a demagogue. His policies in regard to overruling the supreme court by a referendum and by trampling upon the rights of the states are very dangerous. With Roosevelt as president the constitution would not be safe, the rights of the states would not be safe, and hence the liberties of the people would not be safe. The intelligent voters of this country should disregard empty promises made by Roosevelt, and should vote to support the democratic party, which is now in a position to remedy most of the abuses of which the people complain, and to do so in a manner that will secure the maximum results with the minimum disturbance of business.

Before Roosevelt pictured himself standing at Armageddon, battling for the Lord, he should have assured his audience that Ananias is dead.

SEEN AND HEARD

The dictionary makers often took occasion to make their definitions hit their enemies. Dr. Johnson defined oats as "a grain which in England is generally given to horses, but in Scotland supports the people." He defined "pensioner" as a "slave of guile, hired by a stipend to obey his master," which definition was made much of by the doctor's enemies when he himself was awarded a pension.

At a club dance the other evening an enthusiastic member approached a rather dunt member and said unto him: "Say, for heaven's sake go over and talk to Miss Fryte. She is sitting all by herself." "But—what shall I say to her?" "Tell her how pretty she is." "But she ain't pretty!" "Well, then tell her how ugly the other girls are. Ain't you got no social tact?"

The popular idea is that dictionary makers are about as infallible as makers of literature can be, and yet, from the earliest times the mistakes of the lexicographers have furnished amusement. When the Forty Immortals were engaged in making the dictionary of the French academy, the word "crab" came up for a gloss; they were about agreed to define it as "a little red fish that walks backwards" when Fourtelle pointed out that it was no doubt a good definition, save for the fact that the animal is not a fish, it is not red until it is boiled, and it does not walk backwards.

Bailey's dictionary defined the lark or golden oriole as "a bird that, being looked upon by one who has the yellow jaundice, cures the person and dies himself." Pennine, who was the next dictionary maker, was afraid of this, and merely said, "lark, a kind of bird."

But one of the best bits of misinformation was given in the dictionary of Edward Phillips, who in one place declared that "a gallon is a measure containing two quarts," and in another place declared "a quaver is a measure of time in music, being the half of a crotch, as a crotch the half of a quaver," which leaves the subject as clear as mud.

Ed Gallagher of the Concord Patriot, says the Manchester Emerald gets one over once in a while on the farmer squibbler of the Union. Here's Ed's latest.

"Our chief concern about the drought is that it will interfere with the onion-raising conducted in Londonderry by Col. Condon of the Manchester Union."

Have no fear, Ed, Col. Condon has irrigation, no, we should say irrigation, on the brain. If it ever works out the onions are safe.

We have advised the colonel never to plant onions near potatoes. An Irishman did so once and raised a poor crop of potatoes. The reason, he said, was that "the onions made the potatoes cry their eyes out."

A LOST ROMANCE
I have read in New England romances of herb scented hoo balm and thyme; The sweetest perfumes the breezes, The eglantine boughs trail and climb; But all the dim, fragrant enchantment That the dusk of the twilight air knows Seems to rest in the soft, dewy petals Of the heart luring, fragile musk rose.

I was born 'midst New England traditions, I was bred by the New England sea; All the depth and the wealth of her story Are a heritage fitting for me; But the musk rose of olden romances Was always the rose of a dream, And since what is alluring entrance I've longed for its faint, moonlit gleam.

So I've wandered through dooryard and garden And never a musk rose was there, But just lately some pink and white mallow I glanced with no special care; "Come back here," a friend observed coolly, "See what old folks the real musk rose call!"

Alas for New England romances, Alas for fond hopes doomed to fail! My musk rose is pink and white mallow, My musk rose is no rose at all! —Elizabeth Minot.

WHEN GRANDMOTHER WAS A GIRL

"The days of my girlhood how well I remember, When tasks there were many and plays were few, How I longed for a book and the shade of the maples, Or a romp in the meadow where bright daisies grew."

"There was washing and scrubbing, baking and churning, The cows were to milk, and the garden to hoe, And it seems when I stop to think it all over, There was not one blessed minute that was not full of woe."

"When the day's work was over, and evening closed round us, My knitting I tackled a long stunt to do, And when that was ended, although dreadful sleep, I was told I could then piece a quilt block or two."

"There was two miles to school three months in the winter, With Webster's old spelling-book well thumbed and plain, With feet full of chilblains and hands almost frozen, I strove in this manner some knowledge to gain."

"To help out my patience, or stubborn persistence, As day after day endured the pain, A hope of bright future there was always before me, But scant was my pleasure and meagre the gain."

—Mary Kimmerly.

BEALS C. WRIGHT MEETS KENNEDY

In Championship Tennis Match Today

Beals C. Wright, who is well known to the tennis players in this city, having appeared several times at the Country club and one of the best men in these parts of the game, will cross rackets with A. E. Kennedy, Jr., of Philadelphia at the Agawam hunt today for the Rhode Island state championship and one-third interest in the $200 trophy bowl. Both men are among the leaders of the game and the match will be watched with close interest. Wright and Kennedy won their way to the finals yesterday by defeating Russell N. Dana and J. A. Ames, both of Rhode Island. The contests were very interesting, and while Wright was expected to win out, Kennedy's victory came as a surprise, owing to the fact that the winner is still in his teens and the defeated man is a veteran player. Kennedy's match went four sets, with a score of 6-1, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2. Wright's score was 7-5, 6-2, 6-0.

CITY SOLICITOR

SAYS LICENSE FEE SHOULD BE PAID FOR DANCE HALLS

The regular meeting of the license commission was held last night and the principal business before the board was the hearing of remonstrants to the granting of a license as a public amusement to Edward T. Cushing and Charles T. Bunker, co-partners of the Casino, a dance hall, located in Thorn-dike street, opposite Summer street. Walter H. Howe was the remonstrant, but an amicable agreement was reached prior to the scheduled hearing and the license was granted.

The question as to whether the dance hall came within the jurisdiction of the license commission and should be licensed was referred to the city solicitor, the latter being as follows: "Does such petition for a public amusement to Edward T. Cushing and Charles T. Bunker, co-partners of the Casino, a dance hall, located in Thorn-dike street, Lowell, Mass., come within the jurisdiction of the license commission?"

Very respectfully,

The License Commission of the City of Lowell.

The city solicitor is of the opinion that pursuant to Section 172 of Chapter 102 of the revised laws, the board of license commissioners may, if it sees fit, take jurisdiction of licensing public amusements of every kind and for which license they may, in their discretion, charge a fee. It is your opinion, therefore, that the Casino, a dance hall, at which a charge is paid for admission thereto, is in the nature of a public amusement, and, therefore, comes within the jurisdiction of the city solicitor, therefore concludes that the license commission has the power to license public dance halls and charge a fee for such license. If you deem them places of amusement.

Respectfully submitted,

J. Joseph Hennessy, City Solicitor.

The members of the license commission were of the opinion that the Casino was a public amusement and should be licensed and therefore the remonstrants and abutters were notified. Judge Frederic A. Fisher appeared for Mr. Walter H. Howe, a remonstrant, while Messrs. Bunker and Hennessy were represented by Daniel J. Donahue.

It was announced that opposition to the granting of a license had been withdrawn. The commission then took the matter of the granting of the license under consideration.

The following minor licenses were granted:

Common victualler—James Stephen, 505 Market street. Ice cream and fruit—Isador Gerasimov, 353 Broadway; Hattie G. Wabfield, 520 Lawrence street; Henrietta Mara, 98 West Sixth street; Jennie M. Downs, 455 Third street. Express—Willam Transfer Co., four licenses. Auctioneer—Joseph W. Bruce, 55 Lewis street; Charles E. Van, 124 Knell street; Alexander Trudeau, 110 North building; Martin J. Courtney, 110 North building. Surrendered and canceled: Ice cream and fruit—Charles Garoian, 253 Broadway; Fred H. Feabody, 155 Bridge street.

GENERAL OROZCO DELAYS DEPARTURE

Of the Mexican Rebel Troops

JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 7.—Five locomotives with steam up are in the railroad yards here awaiting the evacuation of the troops under General Orozco, commander of the rebel forces in the north. But Orozco has decided to wait another day until the two federal armies to the south move into the position desired.

On the checkerboard of the ongoing campaign in the state of Chihuahua there was some movement yesterday. General Orozco, with his federal, moved north from Madero toward the pocket in which the federal army of General Sanjines is supposed to have caught Inez Salazar and his 1000 troops. Salazar's forces remain at San Diego, according to rebel representatives here and are only a few miles from the federal forces led by Sanjines. It is for this move of Salazar that Orozco evidently has been waiting for not until yesterday was there any actual preparation for departure here. Now all is ready to leave at an hour's notice.

It is clearly a game of checkmate that Orozco is playing. With Salazar's district on the southern division of the Mexican Northwestern railway the way is clear, it is believed, for the rebel headquarters to move directly south along the Mexican railway, meet Salazar, who must escape from the federal about Casas Grandes and after the junction proceed south into the Guerrero district on the southern division of the Northwestern.

If successful, this movement will leave Sanjines and Rabago holding the north and Orozco would be in his old stronghold in the mountains west of the city of Chihuahua, the birthplace of the Madero revolution. Orozco merely is playing a game of waiting.

ROBBED FATHER

BOY WANTED TO SING ON THE STAGE

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—For stealing $555 from his father to satisfy his craving to sing on the stage and his love for a sporting life, it is alleged, 18-year-old Nathan Goldman of Melrose street was held in $2000 for the grand jury yesterday by Judge Bennett in the municipal court.

Young Nathan, who has appeared on the stage in this city recently under the stage names of Nathan Clark and Joe Weston, is charged with 25 counts of the larceny of shoes and with one count of forgery.

Goldman had been stealing, it is alleged, from the firm of which his father is a member, H. Goldman & Son, dealers in shoe findings and shoes at 87 High street. Nathan was employed by the firm.

He is alleged to have ordered shoes from Clark-Hutchinson, shoe jobbers on Federal street, on a fake order of his father's firm, committing forgery, it is alleged, by receiving the bills for them. He then, it is alleged, sold the goods, contending they had been paid for.

WILSON NOTIFIED OF NOMINATION

LOWELL SCORED AN EASY VICTORY OVER THE FALL RIVER TEAM THIS AFTERNOON

Man Was Engaged at Work on Well—One Hand Was Blown Off

Candidate Says That the Resources of the People Must be Protected

SEA GIRT, N. J., Aug. 7.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was officially informed today that he had been chosen by the Baltimore convention as the nominee for the presidency on the democratic ticket.

Briefly and simply the governor was notified of his nomination by Senator-elect Ollie James of Kentucky, who emphasized, as he said, that the governor had obtained the honor untrammeled by obligations and unembarrassed by affiliations of any kind. Though the governor spoke in acceptance theoretically to the fifty-two members of the committee representing every state and territory in the union the speech sounding the depths of his political philosophy was heard by a great throng.

Grouped beneath wide-spreading willows and elm trees were the more prominent guests, hedged in by clumps of ferns and bushes.

The governor read from his manuscript. The platform, he said, was not a program but a practical document intended to show that "we know what the nation is thinking about and what it is most concerned about." The people, he added, were about to be asked not particularly to adopt a platform but to entrust the democratic party with office and power and the guidance of their affairs and their desire now was to know what "translation of action and policy we intend to give to the general terms of the platform should we be elected."

The task ahead, the governor explained, was to set up the rule of justice and to right in such matters as the tariff, the regulation of the trusts and the prevention of monopoly, the adaptation of the banking and currency laws to meet present day conditions, the treatment of those who labor in factories and mines throughout all the great industrial and commercial undertakings, and the political life of the people of the Philippines, for "whom we hold governmental power in trust for service not our own."

The governor pointed out that to protect the resources of the people and keep open the doors of opportunity, the party was face to face "with questions of conservation and development, questions of forests and water power and mines and water ways and of the building of an adequate merchant marine."

These things, he said, had caused trouble heretofore to the nation because they had been "too often handled in private conference."

Of the tariff the nominee declared emphatically:

"There should be an immediate revision and it should be downward, unhesitatingly and steadily downward." This revision, he explained, should begin with schedules "which have been most obviously used to kill competition and extended to every item in every schedule that afford any opportunity for monopoly" and the system of taxation so adjusted that they will fall where they will create the least burden.

The general terms of the present federal anti-trust law forbidding combinations in restraint of trade have apparently proved ineffectual, he said. Trusts have grown up under its ban very luxuriantly. The means and methods by which trusts have been established monopolies now have become known. It will be necessary to supplement the present law with such laws both civil and criminal as will effectively punish and prevent these methods.

In closing, the governor declared that a presidential campaign might "easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance."

"There is no indispensable man," remarked the governor. "The government will not collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home."

The governor's view was that men were only as important as the cause they represented.

"We represent the desire to set up an unentangled government," he concluded. "A government that cannot be used for private purposes, either in the field of business or in the field of politics, a government that will not tolerate the use of the organization of a great party to serve the personal aims and ambitions of any individual and that will not permit legislation to be employed to further any private interests."

Gov. Wilson's Speech

Gov. Wilson spoke in part as follows:

"There never was a time when impudence and suspicion were more keenly aroused by private power selfishly employed; when jealousy of everything concealed or touched with any purpose not linked with general good, or inconsistent with it, more sharply or immediately displayed itself.

"Nor was the country ever more susceptible to unselfish appeals or to the high arguments of sincere justice. These are the unmistakable symptoms of an awakening. There is the more

Fall River	1	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	2	4	8	1

Lowell and Fall River met at Spalding park this afternoon and thasmuch as it was ladies' day there was a large gathering of the fair sex, the majority of whom did considerable rooting. McGamwell made his first appearance since he injured his finger and put up a good game at first. Joseph Ferrin, who formerly played with Lowell, Lynn and Lawrence, was in left garden for the visitors.

Louis Kelchner, scout for the St. Louis Americans, was present at the game looking over some of the timber in the Lowell team. He has an eye on Halsteln, but inasmuch as that player was not in the game today he spent the greater part of his time stazing up Lavigne and Clemens.

Zeiser was on the slab for Lowell with Lavigne at the other end of the battery. Wormwood did the pitching for Fall River and Hayden was behind the bat.

Empire Billy Merritt was the decision maker and called the game at three o'clock, the batting order of the teams being as follows:

Lowell
Clemens, c
Magee, 1f
De Groff, rf
McGamwell, 1b
Miller, 2b
Boutles, 3b
Doe, ss
Lavigne, p

Fall River
De, c
Walsh, 1f
Weaver, rf
Hickman, 1b
Merrill, 2b
Boutles, 3b
Doe, ss
Lavigne, p

First Inning
The visitors scored one run in the first inning. Walsh started off by flying to De Groff and Weaver was passed up. Hickman hit in front of the plate and never had a look at first. Merritt slammed the ball to centre field for a three bagger, scoring Weaver. Bowcock hit to De and died at first.

The Grays gathered in two in the latter half of the inning. Clemens sent a line drive to Merrill and Magee drew a base on balls and then stole second. De Groff fled to Weaver and Magee went to third. McGamwell walked and stole second. Miller singled over second, scoring Magee and McGamwell, and later he stole second and then captured third. Boutles closed the inning by striking out.

Score—Lowell 2, Fall River 1.

Second Inning
There was nothing doing in the second. It looked kind of bad for Lowell in the first half, but Zeiser pulled out of a bad hole. Rose started off with a single to centre and then Ferrin bunted to Zeiser, who threw high to Dee and the ball went into short center field and Rose traveled to third. Ferrin tried to steal and was thrown out. Hayden fled to Magee and Wormwood hit to Zeiser and died at first. Dee and Lavigne hit to Merritt and were out at first. Zeiser fled to Bowcock.

Score—Lowell 2, Fall River 1.

Third Inning
Walsh hit to Miller who fumbled and the runner was safe. He went to second on Weaver's sacrifice. Hickman sent a fly between short and centre field and Dee and Clemens ran for the sphere but it was a case of too many cooks and neither got the ball. Walsh went to third on the play. Hickman stole second. Merritt got hit by a pitched ball and the bases were filled. Bowcock struck out and Rose was out on a line drive to Dee.

Clemens and Magee hit to Merritt and were out at first. De Groff singled to right but in trying to steal second was thrown out.

Score—Lowell 2, Fall River 1.

Fourth Inning
Ferrin drew a free pass. Hayden bunted to Zeiser and the latter threw to Miller who got the runner at first. Wormwood fled to Boutles and Walsh fled to Clemens.

Another one for Lowell in the latter half of the inning. McGamwell hit to Bowcock and was out at first. Miller, the next man up, has been sly. Bull Durham of late and just for that he sent the ball over the left field fence for a homer. Boutles hit to Bowcock and was out at first and Dee fled to Ferrin.

Score—Lowell 3, Fall River 1.

Fifth Inning
Weaver went out. Dee to first and Hickman fled to Clemens. Merritt singled to left, but when he tried to steal second he was thrown out.

Lowell scored two more runs in this inning. Lavigne singled to right and went to second on Zeiser's sacrifice. Clemens walked. Magee fled to Walsh and Lavigne went to third and Clemens to second on the play. De Groff got hit by a pitched ball filling the bases. McGamwell singled over second, scoring Lavigne and Clemens. McGamwell then tried to steal second, but was thrown out.

Score—Lowell 5, Fall River 1.

Sixth Inning
Bowcock, Rose and Ferrin fled to De Groff, all three being difficult catches. Miller drew a base on balls, but was thrown out while trying to steal second. Boutles hit to Merritt and was out at first. Dee doubled to left and scored when Lavigne made a two-bagger in left garden. Zeiser was third out on a fly to Walsh.

Score—Lowell 6, Fall River 1.

Seventh Inning
The visitors scored another run in the seventh. Hayden fled to Clemens and then Wormwood sent the ball over the left field fence for a hom run. Walsh hit to Miller and died at first. Weaver knocked the ball along the third base line and was out. Lavigne was at the bat a foul tip struck Lavigne on one of the fingers but after a short delay he was able to resume playing.

Clemens singled to right field and stole second. Magee then fled to Ferrin. De Groff got a base on balls. McGamwell hit to Bowcock forcing De Groff at second. Mac then stole second, but Miller closed the inning by flying to Hickman.

Score—Lowell 6, Fall River 1.

Eighth Inning
Hickman singled to centre and Merritt fled to Dee. Bowcock fanned. Hickman went to second on a wild pitch. Rose went out. Dee to McGamwell.

Boutles fled to Ferrin and Dee followed with a two bagger to left field. Dee took a lead off second and when Wormwood threw, had the runner went to third. Lavigne singled to left field scoring Dee. Zeiser singled to centre field. Clemens fled to Bowcock. Magee got an infield hit filling the bases. De Groff singled to centre field scoring Lavigne and Zeiser. Dee went to third and De Groff went to second on the throw. McGamwell went out. Wormwood to first.

Score—Lowell 9, Fall River 2.

Ninth Inning
Ferrin fled to Boutles. Hayden hit to Boutles who fumbled, and he was safe at first. Wormwood got a three bagger to centre field scoring Hayden. Walsh singled to right field, scoring Wormwood. Weaver hit to Miller, who threw to Dee, getting Walsh and the ball was sent to first for a double play.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT
NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT
At Convention of Progressives
This Afternoon Amid Great Enthusiasm

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The last day's session of the national progressive convention was scheduled to meet at 11 a. m., but it was apparent as that hour approached there would be a delay in starting.

Just before the convention was called to order the delegates and spectators rose in their places as the band began "Onward Christian Soldiers."

"Onward" as the hymn was concluded Chairman Beveridge dropped the gavel. It was then 11:30 o'clock.

Rabbi Gerson H. Levi of Chicago was introduced as the chaplain of the day. He pronounced the benediction. After the prayer the band struck up "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The song service was then suspended and Chairman Beveridge introduced Charles E. Scott of Alabama, chairman of the committee on permanent organization. He presented a report recommending that the temporary organization be made permanent, which was adopted without debate.

A report was then brought in from the rules committee.

The report designated the party as the "progressive" party, eliminating the word "national" which has heretofore been used.

The rules report fix the basis of representation.

The report would allow one delegate in the national convention for each 10,000 votes cast for progressive candidates at the preceding election.

One delegate for each congressman at large and each United States senator were also allowed. One delegate from Hawaii, one from Alaska and one from the district of Columbia were allowed in the report.

The provision in the new rules that no federal officeholder could hold a seat as national committeeman was cheered by the delegates. Applause also greeted the rule which pledged the party to the selection of candidates for office and delegates to conventions by primaries wherever possible.

A motion to recess until 1:15 evoked the first note of opposition to the plans of leaders. A chorus of "noes" greeted the motion to recess.

Henry J. Allen of Kansas moved as a substitute that the convention proceed with the nominations without awaiting the platform. Chairman Beveridge moved this out of order as the rule of the convention provided for the adoption of the platform.

Then it was moved to suspend the rules and proceed to nominate.

By a second of two-thirds of Kansas delegation the motion was recognized and two more states seconded it.

Timothy Woodruff made a brief speech in opposition to the last named motion. William Flinn said that to recess at this time would delay things.

William J. Trott was probably fatally injured this afternoon while blasting a well for George Green on the Long Pond road.

Mr. Trott had gone down into the well which had been already dug to a depth of about 15 feet to set the blast. After laying the powder Mr. Trott set and, it is thought, lighted the fuse. He was backing toward the ladder to climb out of the excavation when before he had scarcely moved the blast exploded, hurling him against the rocky wall.

Several men at once rushed to the scene, among them C. L. Regan, formerly of The Sun, H. C. Jewell, manager of the Lakewood theatre and Le Roy, the "man fish" who is performing at Lakeview, the latter two speeding over on motor cycles and rendering most valuable assistance.

The victim was found lying in the bottom of the well, covered with blood and terribly mangled. The men who had hurried to his aid immediately set about removing him and this had to be done by lifting the man out in a hammock.

Although his left hand was blown off and the whole left side of his body and head terribly torn, Mr. Trott never lost consciousness and displayed a heroic coolness and iron nerve, talking all the while to those about him, and attempting to soothe and reassure his wife who was hysterical with grief.

Mr. Trott, when taken out of the well, was laid on a cushion spread on the ground near his home and Dr. Jones and Mr. Walsh summoned to the place. People in the vicinity claim that a physician, when several men hailed him as he was driving by in his machine, refused aid to the injured man, giving no reason other than that he had no instruments and could do nothing.

Dr. Walsh arrived and administered the last sacraments.

A young man named Sargent of Graniteville, Mass., a student of Lowell Textile, was passing in an auto, and he willingly lent his machine to aid the victim. Trott was carried in Mr. Sargent's car to the Lowell hospital. There is slight hope for his recovery. Hospital authorities say that his left hand was completely blown off.

The well is a few rods in the rear of Mr. Trott's house on Long Pond road, a short way from Lakeview, on the Lowell side. The rocky sides of the excavation were scattered about by the force of the blast.

Mr. Trott is between 45 and 50 years of age. He has a wife, two sons, Burton L. and George W., and one daughter, Clara E.

CONTRACT LABOR LAW

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—A case of alleged violation of the contract labor law was made public today when Arthur Saville of this city appeared before U. S. Commissioner Grinnell for a hearing on the complaint of being the agent who negotiated for bringing at least ten persons from England. The hearing was expected to last several days. The authorities claim that Saville acted in the interests of Francis Willey & Co., conducting a wool scouring plant at South Barre.

WAS SOLD AT AUCTION TODAY
FOR $44,000

The sale of the Donovan building at Tower's corner took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon and the property was purchased by E. R. Rooney of 17 Federal street, Boston, for $44,000. The first bid was $25,000, the second $30,000, the third $38,500 and then Mr. Rooney bid $44,000. The auctioneers were J. E. Conant Co.

JAMES BOYLE
PUT UP QUITE A BATTLE WITH OFFICERS

James Boyle was arrested this noon at the Northern station. Inasmuch as he was in a fighting mood, the arresting officers, Patrolmen Doolley and Kilroy, had the time of their lives to get control of their prisoner.

Boyle, it is alleged, was in a drunken condition and as he was causing more or less of a disturbance around the station, the officers endeavored to place him under arrest. He was finally quieted down and sent to the station where he was booked for drunkenness.

NEW PICTURES
OF LOCAL INTEREST AT MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

It may be well to apprise the patrons of the Merrimack Square theatre of the fact that the various pictures which are being shown this week at the theatre were gotten through the efforts of the Lowell board of trade, and that practically all of them were supplied by this organization.

These pictures are being shown in order to advertise the city and also to let its residents know a little about its places of interest. In conjunction with the pictures are also presented a number of reading slides which tell about the miles of streets and sewers in Lowell, the deposits per capita in the Lowell banks, the largest hosiery in the world being situated in this city, and many other notes of particular interest.

Some of the pictures shown are as follows, and every time they are projected on the screen they are received with warm applause: Lucy Larcom, first high school in Lowell, the oldest house in Lowell, the Sewall Bowers residence in Wood street, the old Garrison house used during the Revolution, the old Livermore house which later was converted into St. John's hospital, extreme high water at the Pawtucket falls, harvesting ice on the Merrimack river, the toll house on the Middlesex canal, two views of the canal walk, the Lowell playgrounds and the children attending them, the motto of Our Lady of Lourdes, Henry Sullivan swimming to Boston Light, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, President Arthur L. Gray and Secretary John H. Murphy of the board of trade, and many others of vital interest to local residents.

This is the second series of pictures presented before the Lowell public through the courtesy of the board of trade. The other was presented at the same place and treated more on public buildings, while this one is a sort of historic review.

PASTOR AND BRIDE TO LIVE WITH LEPERS

They Have Sailed for the Afflicted Colony in India

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The Rev. Martin P. Davis, a young Buffalo divine of the Evangelical church, sailed yesterday on the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, with his bride of a week, their destination being the leper colony at Chandkuri, in the Central Province of India. There they will take up a permanent abode, he as director of the colony. The colony is conducted under the auspices of the Mission to Lepers in India and the east, and the German Evangelical Missionary society.

In order to ameliorate the conditions of the 427 inmates of the leper colony at Chandkuri, Mr. and Mrs. Davis are gladly running the risk of contracting the most dreadful disease known to man. For out in the desolate plains of India, in one of the struggling collection of low native huts, the missionaries will spend one of the strangest honeymoons that ever befell a bride.

Both Eager for the Sacrifice
And yet the young woman is as eager at the prospect as her husband. Before he sailed Mr. Davis, who is a pleasant-faced young man of sturdy build, dropped in to see Fleming H. Revell, American treasurer of the Mission to Lepers, at the latter's office, 155 Fifth avenue.

"Both my wife and myself are glad of the opportunity that has been given us for useful work in this field," said the minister. "We sail for Chandkuri with hearts full of hope. We intend to give our lives to the work."

Mr. Davis said he had heard of the work of the Mission to Lepers, which is both interdenominational and international in scope, some time ago. He corresponded with Wesleyley D. Bailey, general superintendent of Edinburgh, and became convinced it was his duty to "preach the gospel of Jesus Christ to the lepers and as far as possible to relieve their dreadful sufferings, and provide for their simple wants."

The minister went to his dance and talked the matter over with her. She agreed with him that his mission—only she said "our mission"—lay in India. Accordingly both joined in the request for the appointment.

Although leprosy has been twice declared by the International Conference on Leprosy to be not easily contracted, many missionaries have met horrible deaths while on their missions of mercy. This is in spite of every precaution that can be taken. One missionary, Miss Mary Reed, who is laboring in the snow-capped Himalayas, has been a leper since childhood.

How the Lepers Live

In a colony such as Chandkuri lepers are given little plots of ground and they are encouraged to grow mangoes, lemons, oranges and other Indian fruits. An effort is made to instill in them a spirit of independence in them. Each man and woman is given 20 ounces of coarse ground wheat a day and 8 cents a week. With this 8 cents they buy all their spices and red pepper and dulse and salt, pay for their barber, and save something to buy shoes or headgear or any luxury they can secure out of their allowance.

Each leper cooks his own food. For clothing, each man is given four yards of coarse, strong cotton cloth, forty inches wide, which costs about 30 cents; the women, because of headgear they wear, receive two yards more than the men.

Two children's homes, for the segregation of the offspring of lepers, will be under the care of Mr. Davis. Children of leperous parents usually contract the disease if they are not separated; if taken away from their parents at an early age, they escape. It will be one of the duties of Mrs. Davis to wear healthy children away from diseased mothers.

From biblical times leprosy has been one of the worst scourges of the east. The census returns show there are 200,000 lepers in India alone. There are only pronounced cases.

When men and women are afflicted with this disease in India, they immediately lose all caste and become outcasts. They are frequently turned adrift and wander about helplessly until they die or are rescued by a mission colony.

MAN WAS SHOT

WHILE IN THE ACT OF STEALING MILK

SWAMPSCOTT, Aug. 7.—Detected in the act of stealing milk, Giuseppe Parilli, a laborer was shot and instantly killed here today. Harry Jermyn, driver of a milk wagon, went to the police station shortly after the shooting and said that he was the man who fired the shot. Jermyn was held for a hearing.

HELD UP LINER

UNTIL HER HUSBAND WAS ABLE TO GET ON BOARD

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—As all was ready for the last gangplank to be hauled ashore prior to the departure yesterday of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie for Bremen a tall, powerful looking woman with visage severe jumped on the gangplank. Sailors tried to push her off and a pier worker pleaded, but she remained firm, with her eyes fixed on the landward end of the pier.

Five minutes went by, and the captain was on the bridge waiting impatiently for some one to clear the gangplank. Once more a sailor asked the woman to move.

"I won't!" she shrieked. "Where's my husband? He has deserted me. See if you can't find him. He is a little man and wears spectacles." The crowd laughed, and some of the pier employees started to find the belated husband. Fifteen minutes elapsed, and the sailors were preparing to remove the woman by force, when she saw the object of her wait.

"There he is!" she shouted. "Come on you. Don't you see the ship is sailing!"

From the crowd came a little man, loaded with bundles, perspiring and almost exhausted. His wife grabbed him by the shoulder, lifted him and his bundles in her arms and ran aboard. Spectators cheered, the gangplank came ashore with a rush and away sailed the Kronprinzessin Cecilie with her full passenger list. The passengers who created the excitement were Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Allessi.

THE "FAUNAL NATURALIST" IN POLITICS

ELSIE WILLIAMS in Juliet at the Merrimack Square Theatre.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Lowell Week" is now on at the Merrimack Square theatre and it has aroused a great deal of enthusiasm among Lowell theatregoers.

Naturally, the headliner attraction, Mortimer Snow & Co. in Shakespeare's tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," has won the largest enthusiasm from the patrons of this theatre. Mr. Snow has had much experience in presenting this role alone and consequently his acting was very finished and thoroughly enjoyable.

Miss Williams, however, won almost as large an amount of success as "Juliet," being physically well adapted to the part she plays and in her acting very natural and thoroughly interesting. In the tomb scene where she is laid out in her creamy white robes and strewn with flowers, the poignant beauty of it all held the audience enthralled and often throughout the scene sobs could be heard in the audience.

The other feature, "The Singers of 76," in their delightful songs and dainty minuet. Professor Galloway in his interesting ventriloquistic act, Walter Davis in his catchy songs and clever dances. Joe Harrington and Luella Miller in their laughable one-act playlet, "The New Janitor," all proved exceptionally interesting and well worth seeing.

The photo-plays are all well up to the usual high standard of this theatre. One of the prettiest films seen for some time is the one depicting the adventures of the little boy and girl who eloped.

LAKEVIEW DANCE HALL

"The best floor I ever danced on and the best music I ever heard," was the remark that a young lady who is camping at Long pond said after coming from the Lakeview dance hall last evening. Her other companions were of the same opinion, and in fact every one who visits the place this season is saying the same thing. True, they might for the floor there along with being of the best material available is taken care of by a young man who made a study of the work. He is proud of the condition of the floor and takes every precaution to keep it in the best shape possible. And for the orchestra, well, everybody in Lowell knows its reputation, but those who haven't heard it this season should do so at once, for with the acquisition of several other musicians it is now one of the best ever brought together. Special numbers are being played this week by Messrs. Bissonnette and Pool and novelty numbers are on every night. Sessions are held regularly, afternoon and evening.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Torelli's Dog and Pony circus is playing at the theatre this week and the clever troupe of animals they are indeed. It is surprising to see the difficult tricks these dogs and ponies go through and this week bids fair to be a banner week for this clever novelty act, and a rare treat for the women and children. One of the big hits of the show is the performance of Bessie, the unrideable mule, who drives anyone who succeeds in riding her. An added attraction to the company is the Lucifers, a smart comedy acrobatic team, who furnish lots of fun and do many clever tricks, and John Topp in singing and musical novelties.

THE KASINO

All roads will lead to the Kasino to-night, when the big Kasino orchestra will give a free concert of old time music. These concerts have been the hit of the local amusement season, and will be continued into the fall. While many of the present-day melodies are tuneful, it cannot be denied

Henry F. Sullivan, Lowell's greatest swimmer, cares for the safety of bathers at the new bath house and he is always ready and willing to help beginners. If you don't know how to swim now is the time to learn. Don't wait till you go to the beach to be swept away by an undertow. Learn to swim where safety is assured and then you will be able to thoroughly enjoy yourself at the beach. It's a very good thing to know how to swim and every boy and girl in the land should acquire a knowledge of the simple motions that make swimming easy. No better opportunity can be imagined than that offered at the new bath house so closely situated on the shores of Lake Massacupp and just a few steps from the entrance to Willow Dale.

WESTERN CHAMPION TENNIS WINNERS

McLoughlin and Bundy Score Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Lawn tennis followers who have predicted that when Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy met the national doubles champions for the title at Newport, the crowns would fall, had a foretaste of what is coming when Raymond T. Little and Gustave F. Touchard went down to defeat at 6-2, 6-3 yesterday on the courts of the Crescent Athletic club at Bay Ridge.

The meeting of the challenging pair from the Pacific coast and the champions, who must meet them on the turf courts of the Casino two weeks from today, came in the third round of the New York state championship. It had not been expected that the champions would consent to such a test at this stage, which would serve as an anti-climax to the match to come at Newport.

McLoughlin led off with the service. He was splendid on his overhead shots, and supported by Bundy in the rallies the two scored the first game. Then McLoughlin and Bundy captured the next against Little's service, while Bundy, whose service was "always a puzzle to both Little and Touchard," won his game. Up to this point both of the pairs had been working straight drives and volleys. The pace was a sizzling one, with the wonderful crossing shots of the Californians reaping the points on the opposite side of the net.

All of the other matches were fairly close with the exception of the defeat of Charles H. Bull, Jr., and Henry C. Martin, the winners of the western championship last year, who were defeated by Watson M. Washburn and Lyle E. Mahan at 6-0, 6-2. Karl H. Behr and Frederick C. Inman had a lively match against Frederick C. Dagg and S. Howard Vossell before they won at 6-3, 10-8. Behr piled up a great number of net shots in the match and was the untidy member on his side. Inman's best work was his lengthy drives and his skill at passing.

WERE DEFEATED BY EX-SHAH OF PERSIA

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A force of Persian military police under command of two Swedish officers was repulsed today, while endeavoring to dislodge Mohammed Ali Mirza, ex-shah of Persia, from a strong position he occupied in the mountains ten miles south of Shiraz, the capital of the province of Fars, according to a news agency despatch received here today. One of 20 Swedish officers was wounded and 20 of the rank and file of the mountain police were killed or wounded. The government troops also lost a mountain gun and a considerable number of rifles.

MOTOR CYCLIST

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—William Shields, a professional motor cyclist, had a remarkable escape from serious injury in a five mile race last night. The Brighton beach motorcyclist, who was making a pace of 55 miles an hour when he attempted to force his way in a gap which seemed to have been opened up between the two leaders in the race. The gap was not quite wide enough and Shields' handlebars touched the saddle of another machine. His pace was so terrific that the slightest impact threw his wheel into the air and landed its rider all in a heap on the flat running board from which he rebounded into the grass of the infield.

Rubber ball like, he bounced to his feet and promptly checked against his wheel which was performing stunts along the track the engine keeping it going for a hundred yards before it slid off into the infield with nothing damaged but a pedal.

COLLAPSED AFTER RESCUING HIS CHILDREN

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Several occupants of the three-story brick and wooden double dwelling house at 79 and 81 Porter street, East Boston, had to make a hasty escape about 7 o'clock last night because of the fire which was burning in both sides before the occupants were aware of the danger. Abraham Cohen carried two of his children down the front staircase, which was filled with smoking smoke, and when he reached the sidewalk he collapsed. He was resuscitated by the firemen. The children escaped injury. It is supposed the fire started from hot ashes in a barrel in the ash house of 81, which is owned by Samuel S. Snyder of 115 Havard street. The flames worked up through a light and air shaft and communicated to 79, owned by Frank Rome of 51 Trenton street. A man passing along Porter street sent in an alarm from box 635. Rafael Troielli of 79 Porter street and Felix Accomada, who lives on the first floor of 81, helped their families out.

AGREES TO TRANSFER GAMES TO LOWELL

The games between Lowell and New Bedford on Monday and Tuesday of next week, scheduled for the latter city have been transferred to Lowell. The attendances at New Bedford have been very small of late and Manager Connaughton, when asked by the Lowell team to have his team play in Lowell, accepted the offer. By the transfer, Lowell will be at home for five days of the week, games being on for every day but Friday.

On Wednesday Brackton will be at Spalding park, on Thursday Fall River comes here. Friday Lowell goes to Lynn and on Saturday afternoon Terry and his Lynsters will be with us at Spalding park.

GOV. STUBBS

HAS PROBABLY WON SEAT IN U. S. SENATE

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 7.—Governor Stubbs probably has defeated Charles Curtis for the latter's seat in the United States senate. Although early returns from Kansas state-wide primary seemed to indicate the race would not probably be decided until complete returns were received Stubbs gained so much in the country districts that it seemed almost certain that he had defeated Curtis by a substantial majority.

Overnight work by the election clerks cleared up the contests in the first and third congressional districts, giving the republican nomination to the incumbents, D. H. Anthony and A. P. Campbell, by reduced majorities. The democratic contests for United States senator and governor will require figures from every county to decide them. J. B. Billard, mayor of Topeka, who is running on a platform that pledges re-submission of the liquor question to the voters snatched the lead in the gubernatorial race over night from George Hodges and this morning it was a close struggle between them. W. H. Thompson and Hugh Farrelly were the leading democratic candidates for the United States senate.

Of Settling the Trouble in New Bedford—Strike May Be Long Drawn Out

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 7.—Frank M. Bump, special representative of the state board of arbitration and conciliation, who has been in this city watching strike developments, left for Boston yesterday, satisfied that the strike promised to be a long-drawn-out affair from all the present indications.

Before he left, however, he made a final effort to see if the weavers would not postpone their fight for the total abolition of the grading system and return to work pending some sort of an effort to bring about a settlement of the conditions.

Mr. Bump spent a long time talking over the matter with the executive board of the Weavers' union and said that if the weavers would return to work undoubtedly the law relative to grading could be regulated by statute and that a measure would be introduced into the legislature, and the possibility of getting something definite on the books by the first of the year was good. His plan was rejected, for the present at least.

The different textile unions will be called together to act on the question of assessing the members who are working, the fund to be used to be divided among the members of the union who are on strike, who have children in the family under 14 years of age.

The first of these meetings was held last night, and the Carders and Ring Spinners' union acted favorably on the proposition, and a good sum will be realized each week.

Sec. Devoll of the Manufacturers' association is still in New York on business. Many believe that the owners may open the gates of the mills following Labor day to give the operatives a chance to go to work and if the operatives do not care to go to work, that the gates will be closed again. The manufacturers will be guided by strike developments.

Yesterday 50 Portuguese workers left this city for Ludlow. Other workers are leaving the city now that all hope of an early settlement of the strike has vanished.

Reports from the fine cotton goods market in New York indicate that the strike is being felt by finishers and will soon affect the printers. The stock of gray cloths on hand is being rapidly used up and the situation is assuming a serious aspect all around.

The general trade is anxious to have the strike settled, not only because of the serious shortage a prolongation of trouble would produce, but because of the reported increasing of prices by the mills that are not affected.

There is a sentiment among the relief committee of the Textile council to keep the cases of destitution as quiet as possible, but there is no denying that there are many cases of actual want among the strikers, who have been out of work three weeks and are not members of the unions that distribute strike pay to members.

Mrs. Astor in Anticipation of the Stork's Visit

MRS. J.J. ASTOR AND THE ASTOR HOME

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Mrs. William H. Force, mother of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, has arrived at the Astor mansion, 340 Fifth avenue, to be with her daughter until the arrival of the expected child. Mrs. Force was accompanied by her daughter, Miss Katherine Force. Mrs. Astor takes her accustomed daily motor ride through Central park and up Riverside Drive, accompanied by a nurse. The presence of Dr. Edwin B. Cragin, Mrs. Astor's physician, who came to the Fifth avenue house on Sunday night, is taken as an indication that the expected arrival is due this week.

MULE SPINNER

IS ACTING AS MAYOR OF NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 7.—Alderman John Hannigan, a mule spinner at the Wamsutta mills, at present striking with the other members of his craft who came out in support of the weavers, yesterday took up his duties in the municipal building as acting mayor of this city.

Acting Mayor Hannigan, who will fill the office during Mayor Charles S. Ashley's vacation, was elected chairman of the board of aldermen, following his third successive election as an alderman from ward 5. As chairman of the board he is acting mayor in the absence of the regular official.

Always an active labor man, he has been elected alderman as a candidate of both the Citizens' party and Labor party. His position, a most unique one—that of acting mayor and striker both—is said to be unequalled in this state.

Thirteen thousand cotton mill workers, made idle three weeks ago by the weavers' strike for the abolition of the grading system of payment, faced a protracted struggle today. The hope last week that a settlement would be effected shortly was obliterated by the announcement that there would be no conference between the manufacturers and a committee of the Weavers' union in the immediate future. The announcement was a surprise to the great body of strikers and locked-out operatives.

It was reported at strike headquarters that hundreds of persons were in need of financial assistance. The members of the Weavers' union were given strike pay yesterday.

STRUCK BY AUTO

HAVERHILL CHILD MAY BE INJURED INTERNALLY

HAVERHILL, Aug. 7.—Struck by an automobile, owned and driven by Clyde R. Sanders of Georgetown, at the junction of Water street and Eastern avenue last evening, Martha, 7-year-old daughter of Mrs. Annie Deroche of Eastern avenue, was seriously injured, and a horse owned by Alderman Roswell L. Wood, which was being used by Slade & Roberts, was so badly hurt that it was necessary to kill it.

Mr. Sanders was on his way to Georgetown when the Deroche girl, who was playing in the street, was struck by his car, and in his successful attempt to prevent the wheels passing over the auto struck the horse, which was driven by James A. Bladen. The Deroche child sustained several bruises to her left leg and right thigh and may be injured internally.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL TAKES FINAL ACTION IN THE STILES MATTER

At the meeting of the municipal council yesterday afternoon an order to transfer $736.41 from the fund for rebuilding the Race street fire house to an appropriation to be called "Buildings, salaries and wages," was read. Mayor O'Donnell said he was going to vote against the order, because it increased the appropriation. Mr. Cummings said that no money had been voted for the repair of buildings, also at this time of year it is usual to ask for money for repair of school buildings.

"I am not opposed to a transfer," said the mayor, "but I think it ought to be allowed to remain until a later date."

Mr. Brown thought an interesting situation would develop. He said he intended asking for more money to piece out the year.

Mr. Cummings said he should insist on his motion, that the order be adopted.

Mayor O'Donnell said he believed the various departments should go as near the end of the year before asking for extra money, and then, if money is needed, to ask for it in a lump sum.

On the vote to transfer the money the order was passed, five voting for, Mayor O'Donnell having decided to vote for it.

August 20, 2 p. m., was the time set for discussion of the order to borrow $22,000 for the paving of Plain street. The report of the gas and electric light commission stating that the Lowell Electric Light corporation had been given the right to increase its capital stock was placed on file.

A bill of $300, to pay for the bond issued by Norcross & Leighton for the city treasurer, was discussed.

Mr. Barrett said that inasmuch as but poor protection has been accorded the city by the bond, he would object to paying it.

The mayor brought up the workmen's compensation act, and said he had insured the city for 15 days after July 1st, under the terms of the act. That protection has expired and Mr. O'Donnell asked that some action be taken.

Solicitor Hennessy said he had talked with Harry Sawyer, representing a London liability company, and had not learned a deal about the act from him.

Two departments could alone receive the protection, the water department and sewer construction. Six per cent of the weekly payroll would have to be paid over for the protection of employees doing hazardous work. Clerks would be insured for 2 per cent of their total pay. Altogether it would prove very costly to the city, said Mr. Hennessy, something like $6000 or $8000 being paid each year for the insurance of certain city employees.

Mr. Barrett moved that the vote taken at last week's meeting with reference to the request that Andrew G. Stiles, city treasurer, resign be reconsidered. Mr. Cummings seconded the motion. On a vote reconsideration was refused. Messrs. Brown, O'Donnell and Barrett joined against, and Messrs. Barrett and Cummings for reconsideration.

Adjourned at 1:20 o'clock to Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

HAVERHILL, Aug. 7.—The will of Charles K. Fox was filed yesterday for probate.

The document, dated June 21, 1911, disposes of property exceeding $500,000 in value. The will names the wife of the deceased, Ida L. Fox, Lambert H. Chick and Robert D. Trask as executors. The only public bequest is that of $5000 to Gould's academy at Bethel, Me., which Mr. Fox attended, all to be used for any memorial the trustees may see fit.

The will provides for the surviving members of the Fox family and for relatives and a number of persons intimately associated with Mr. Fox.

Mr. Fox also remembered his old school chums in Maine and provided for the education of their sons. He left $150,000 to his wife absolutely, and a like sum to his daughter, Mrs. Marjorie W. Pitcher, the wife of Karl W. Pitcher. The residue of the estate is to be divided between the two. The residence on Arlington square and all its contents were left to the wife to do with as she chooses and to revert to his daughter on the mother's death.

ROCKINGHAM FAIR

Ten thousand dollars in premiums are offered for cattle, blooded horses, sheep, swine, poultry and agricultural products at Rockingham fair, Aug. 22 to 24. The new cattle sheds, costing $22,000, are nearly completed, and the most elaborate and high class exhibit of blooded cattle is assured. Two large exhibition halls are completed for farm products, horticulture and the mammoth agricultural exhibit made by the U. S. government, department of agriculture. The entire agricultural and live stock department is in charge of Richard Pattee, master of the New Hampshire state grange, and he is ably assisted by many leading men and women of that great organization.

BALL PLAYERS UNION HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Dave Fultz, a Former Baseball Player, is President of the Organization

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Professional baseball players of the major leagues have organized a mutual protective association.

Dave Fultz, former star outfielder of the New York American league club and now a lawyer, is president of the new organization. It is the first time since the leatherstock days, that the playing fraternity has been united in common principle, and while as yet membership is confined to athletes of the National and American leagues, it is purposed ultimately to take into the fold every active member of the many minor leagues working under the present system of organized baseball.

The Mutual Protective Association of Baseball Players was perfected last Sunday at the office of Mr. Fultz. The preliminary meeting had been held two weeks earlier. At that time the American league players pledged themselves to the new cause. It but remained for the National league players last Sunday to fall into line to assure the success of the venture.

Every National league club was represented either in person or by one or more of its players or by proxy. There had been a full representation of American league performers two weeks earlier. By mutual consent of the players of both major leagues, Mr. Fultz was elected president. As such he was empowered to draw up articles of constitution which will be ratified within the next couple of weeks and, when approved, made public.

No Idea of Unionism

According to Mr. Fultz, president of the new organization there is no idea of unionism behind the project. Interviewed last night, Mr. Fultz appeared somewhat reticent in discussing the plans of the players. He finally consented to outline very briefly the purposes of the newly formed association.

"The ball players are not antagonistic toward the present form of baseball government," said President Fultz. "There is no menace intended toward the National commission. But it is felt that great good will come of the players having proper representation in the court that governs them. Players have no voice in National commission matters nor have they hope of being represented on the supreme court of baseball. While the integrity of the National commission is above reproach it is felt generally among the playing fraternity that the ordinary laymen do not meet with the consideration of the great star.

The small fry is timorous about asserting its rights; it feels apprehensive of the power of the magnates, who can easily sidetrack offenders to the minor leagues.

An Echo of "Strike"

The new protective association is an echo of the "strike" in Philadelphia of the entire Detroit American league club. Hughie Jennings' veterans went out in sympathy with Ty Cobb, suspended indefinitely for attacking a spectator at the Hilltop for alleged abuse. At that time the Detroit insurgents endeavored to promote a protective fraternity, but without success. Every since the players have been working on the quiet.

Dave Fultz should prove a good president as he is a capable lawyer, as well as an experienced baseball man. If he fills the mission outlined in his interview it will be his duty to see that great and small receive common justice at the hands of baseball law. Until the new organization is ready to make known its plans and purposes in full some apprehension may be felt among the powers. But if the scheme is as simple as it appears there is no reason for worry over the future of the national sport.

THE OLDEST CHURCH IN CHELMSFORD CENTRE

UNITARIAN CHURCH AT CHELMSFORD CENTRE

Has Quite a Remarkable History
—Names of the Original
Organizers

Of the four churches which are located in the historic town of Chelmsford the oldest is the Unitarian meeting house. Like other such churches throughout New England it recalls many an historic fact and is especially a reminder of the oft-recorded division of the Congregational society nearly a century ago. At first glance one would, from the notice erected on the front of the edifice, judge it to be nothing more unusual than one of the present day Congregational churches. The notice reads:

"First Congregational society, organized December 13th, 1655. The first meeting house was built about 1660. The Second was built in 1717. The third was built in 1782. The present meeting house was built in 1842."

In early years the meeting house was for the Congregationalists. It is now known as the Unitarian Congregational church, since the division years ago when the Trinitarian Congregationalists separated from the others.

The church is quite a large structure built of wood. "The other churches are the Congregational (Trinitarian), the Baptist, and the Episcopal. These are for the most part of more recent date and modern construction. The Unitarian church, with its gleaming spire, is a monument of ages past.

"The first church in Chelmsford was established in 1655. Seven men met, the pastor with the 'engaged brethren' of Wenham church founded shortly before near Salem. The men were: Edward Read, Edward Kemp, Austin Kilham, Samuel Foster, George Bryan and Richard Goldsmith.

The church at Wenham was founded by Rev. John Fiske and it was he who undertook to establish the Chelmsford church upon the proposal of the townsfolk. Mr. Fiske, himself, in his writings leaves an account of the founding of the church at Chelmsford. Among the members signed in his account are: Isaac Larnett, Simon Thompson, William Underwood, Abram Parker, Benjamin Butterfield, and Thomas Chamberlain. In addition to the above names there are other signers, early townsmen, from whom it is highly probable many of the present Chelmsford families are directly descended.

Mr. Fiske, founder of the Wenham and Chelmsford churches, was born in England in 1601, nearly 20 years before the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers in America. He was a graduate of Emmanuel college, and came to this country in 1637, bearing a letter of commendation to Governor Winthrop.

Cotton Mather, in his "Magnolia" gives an interesting biographical sketch of Mr. Fiske, which might prove of interest to residents of Chelmsford.

Such is the record of one of the numerous historic associations which lend interest to the town of Chelmsford. There are many others.

In the centre of a small park in the village a huge boulder rests. There is an inscription: "Here on the 19th of April, 1776, the minute guns summoned the men of Chelmsford to the Concord fight. Erected by the Molly Varnum Chapter, D. A. R., A. D. 1927."

On May 28-31 Chelmsford celebrated the 250th anniversary of its incorporation. Consequently it is now 257 years old, one of the oldest in New England. It is a quaint, quiet village, and the inhabitants breathe an atmosphere full of associations that are dear to the heart of the patriotic American.

DEMOCRATS KEEP AWAY FROM NAVY CAUCUS

Only 90 of 227 Members Appeared to Urge Two Battleship Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—The house battleship caucus planned for last night failed for lack of a quorum. Only 90 of the 227 democratic members of the house answered the roll call.

Chairman Burleson, of the caucus, withheld last night from the public the names of these 91, nearly every one of whom is a friend of the navy, although instructed by the caucus to make the roll call public.

Burnett of Alabama, leader of the "perk barrel" crowd and "no battleship" advocate, watched the democratic caucus which followed from the vantage ground of a gallery doorkeeper's seat.

Impassioned appeals were made by Speaker Clark and Underwood for harmony in democratic ranks and for an agreement on a navy program. It is admitted a most serious condition has arisen and that the house democrats are divided along lines creating great bitterness. Another attempt at a caucus will be made next Friday night.

Leader Underwood has issued a mandate that it must be attended. Representatives Sulzer, Curley, Murray and others leading the fight had their forces on hand before 8 o'clock, the hour set for the caucus, and Chairman Burleson faced grim and determined men who were prepared to accept that they received fair play, which has been denied them at a previous caucus. Several members kept uncertainty as to the position the chairman might take.

When Chairman Burleson announced that but 90 of the necessary 114 had responded there was no comment. Representative Humphreys of Mississippi asked if the roll-call would be made public, his purpose being to show the absentees. Mr. Burleson announced that it would be, under the rules of the caucus. Later Mr. Burleson reconsidered, said there had been no caucus and took the roll-call away from the newspapermen.

Informal Discussion Follows

With the failure to get a roll-call it was decided by unanimous consent to discuss the battleship difficulty.

Speaker Clark and Leader Underwood each placed a stamp of honor in the democratic ranks, a settlement of the vexed question of battleship authorization and a united vote. Each announced support of a one-battleship program, but showed no hostility to the two-battleship authorization. They urged peace, no matter how many battleships might be decided on, and each predicted it would come with the holding of another caucus.

Captain Hobson, a two-battleship advocate, followed with an appeal along the same line. When Representative Sulzer sought to address the conference he was cut off by the adjournment motion of Representative Finley (S. C.), which Chairman Burleson declared carried. Mr. Sulzer desired to urge the wisdom of rescinding previous caucus actions, binding against any battleships at all and leaving members free to vote as they desired.

His resolution to have been presented to a caucus is:

Resolved: That the action of the democratic caucus heretofore taken on the naval appropriation bill regarding battleships be, and the same hereby is, vacated and rescinded, and the democratic members of the house are free to vote on the subject matter as they deem advisable.

The discussion that was permitted followed conferences held earlier in the day with Speaker Clark, Underwood and Burleson by a special committee of two-battleship men, consisting of Captain Hobson, Carlin and Pou. They insisted that no snap judgment must be taken in caucus if the leaders desired harmony.

The committee was assured there would be free discussion.

Representative Sulzer yesterday received a letter from Rear Admiral A. T. Mahon, the best known writer on naval subjects, strongly urging two battleships.

Collecting Money for the Strikers

No Change in the New Bedford Situation

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 7.—The strike situation here is very quiet today. Collectors returning from Manville and Woonsocket report that they met with fair success and would have done better but from the fact that they ran across two other collectors who were working the district. The contributions to the strike fund are coming into the treasurer of the textile council from the local labor unions and this morning he found a check of $25 from the Boot & Shoe Workers and one of $5 from a friend, and a communication from the city employees which stated that collectors had been appointed from that local to collect funds from each gang of city workers, all money collected to be turned into the treasurer of the local who will turn it over to the treasurer of the textile council.

A system of book collecting has been established by the weavers, who today started out collectors by districts in this city.

The relief committee of the textile council will meet this afternoon to hear additional cases of destitution. The carders' union has an additional dozen cases to report and the other unions some.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Work on the new Y. M. C. A. building on Merrimack street is progressing very favorably and completion is now well in sight. The finishing of the interior is at present being accomplished. Features of the structure are the large gymnasium and the swimming pool. The former is in the rear of the building and remarkably well located so as to be easy of access and first class accommodation to an audience of the basketball games or other athletic exhibitions. A running track of that excellent form known as a "saucer track," that is with sloping turns which are more safely and speedily rounded than the old style straight track, is being built in the gallery.

The swimming tank is on the left of the gym. It is graded so as to cause the depth of water to gradually increase from end to end.

The rest of the ground floor is taken up with offices, reading room, parlors, etc.

On the second floor is located the assembly hall, and at one end of this is a stage.

It is thought that the building will be ready for occupancy sometime next month.

Mrs. Cyrus W. Russell, who are sunbathing in Palmouth. The window is the gift of summer residents of Menauhant and friends, "In loving memory."

"Dr. Chambre was well known in Palmouth. By his interest and efforts the chapel at Menauhant was built and for many years he was accustomed to conduct services there in the summer. He was a welcome preacher at St. Barnabas' Memorial church, where he preached once every summer. By his fine qualities of heart and mind he won and retained many warm and loyal friends."

The swimming tank is on the left of the gym. It is graded so as to cause the depth of water to gradually increase from end to end.

The rest of the ground floor is taken up with offices, reading room, parlors, etc.

On the second floor is located the assembly hall, and at one end of this is a stage.

It is thought that the building will be ready for occupancy sometime next month.

MEMORIAL WINDOW

TO LATE DR. CHAMBRE PLACED IN CHURCH AT FALMOUTH

The following clipping from the Enterprise of Falmouth, Mass., is of some interest to the general public of Lowell, especially to the members of St. Anne's parish:

"An interesting service was held last Sunday afternoon in the little chapel at Menauhant, at which a window in memory of Rev. Dr. Chambre was unveiled. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Harnett of St. Mark's church, Toledo, O., and Prof. W. S. Woodbridge followed with some interesting reminiscences of Dr. Chambre. By a happy coincidence, representatives of St. Anne's church, Lowell, of which Dr. Chambre had been rector for 27 years, were present in the persons of Mr. and

MILLS ARE CLOSED

ADAMS, Aug. 7.—Twenty-five hundred workers were idle and the four mills of the Berkshire Cotton Manufacturing Co. were closed today as a result of the strike of weavers and loom fixers last Monday. The strike was called when four operatives employed in one of the mills of the company refused to join the weavers' union.

A mass meeting of the strikers was scheduled to be held during the day when some definite action in regard to the strike was expected to be taken.

LIVELY BLAZE BROKE OUT IN PARKER BOBBIN SHOP

The Loss is Estimated at Between $5000 and $10,000—Two Alarms Sounded

The fire department was summoned to the bobbin shop of the Walter L. Parker Co. at 731 Dutton street at 7:35 last night, where a fierce blaze was raging on the third floor.

The flames threatened the destruction of the entire building and when the firemen arrived the third floor was completely ablaze from the fire wall, which divided the shop from the Annas Pratt Co.'s lard factory, well up to the farther end. This floor contained well seasoned lumber and a large quantity of shavings from the machines.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. The shop had been closed for the night and, so far as can be determined, not a soul was in the building.

Engines 2, 4, 5, 6 and 8, and trucks 1, 2 and 3, chemical C, and protective answered the first alarm. But when the great headway of the blaze was seen, a second alarm was rung in from box 4. On the second alarm engines 1, 4 and 7, hose 7, 9, 10 and 12, truck 4, and chemical B responded. At the time of the sounding of the first alarm, engine 2 was holding a fire drill on Pine street, and was among the first on the scene.

The blaze lasted for more than an hour before it was finally declared under control and the recall sounded. The precise amount of the damage is not yet known. Considerable material on the first and second floors was destroyed by water. Roughly, it is estimated that the loss is between $5000 and $10,000.

HUSBAND SAYS HE WAS DUPED

Did Not Know Wife Was a Mute

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Chiel M. Orowitz says he did not know his wife, Rosie, was deaf and dumb until he married her.

In explanation of this remarkable statement, Orowitz says he had no chance to talk to his wife until their wedding day. But he acknowledges he did not propose to her by expressing his reason in gestures.

Orowitz sued for an annulment of the marriage in the supreme court yesterday.

Justice Lehman refused the wife's application for alimony, pending his decision in the suit, but granted her $75 for counsel fees. The wife made affidavit that they were married, the ceremony being elaborate, on June 18, 1907, and that Orowitz knew very well she could not talk or hear. But during his courtship she could give primitive demonstration of her affection for him by clapping his hands and looking at him with sparkling eyes.

She avers that her father, a cleaner and dyer, of No. 183 Henry street, supported her and her husband for three months after their marriage. Then Orowitz disappeared and she heard nothing from him until recently, when he wrote to her offering her $30 if she would help him get a divorce.

Mrs. Orowitz's father declared on oath that Orowitz, after leaving his wife, wrote to him asking for money to return to his country, and adding: "I love my wife despite her faults."

"The outrageous acts of the plaintiff have ruined the health of my daughter and every member of my family," avers the father, Mr. Goldberg. "My daughter is heartbroken, and the table is full of her tears. She was known for her great beauty in the neighborhood, and now she is aged and broken in health and spirit, all on account of the cruelty of the plaintiff who acted the wolf in the disguise of a lamb."

Orowitz, replying, swears that his wife's father duped him into signing a marriage agreement by falsely translating certain papers to him.

He told me that unless I signed the papers, I would be deported immediately," says Orowitz. "The lawyer who was present did not understand Yiddish, and I could not speak English. I learned afterward that I had signed an agreement of marriage."

REBEL-LEADER

TO MEET REPRESENTATIVES OF MEXICAN GOVERNMENT

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—Representatives of the government will meet Emiliano Zapata, the rebel leader, at El Higuero tomorrow to discuss measures aiming at peace in the southern part of the republic. Zapata has declared he will consider no peace proposition unless it contemplates President Madero's resignation. Nevertheless the government has proceeded with plans for the conference and its commission has been instructed to arrange an audience if they can.

STRIKERS GET OLD JOBS ON THE BOSTON "L" ROAD

The State Board's Decision Gives Them Former Ratings—Men Are Pleased

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The striking Elevated carmen are to return to work on or before August 19 at their former ratings.

This was the decision of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration rendered in a unanimous report made public at 7 o'clock last evening.

According to signed agreements, both the Elevated company and union carmen are to abide by the result.

The victory for the carmen is sweeping. The men discharged for "unsatisfactory service" between May 14 and June 7 are to be taken back with those who went on strike.

Cheer for Victory

Immediately the word of victory spread to the various headquarters of the carmen at the different divisions of the company, intense enthusiasm was manifested. Cheering throngs gathered at the meeting places last night and wildly applauded their leaders.

Similar scenes were enacted at all the division points, where the men had been assembled to await the coming of the report.

Under the terms of the final agreement the Elevated company is to notify the union officers at the different division quarters the men they want to return to work. Then men are to await the call for duty. They will be taken back in order of their seniority of service. The men who wish to return must give notice to the company before Aug. 15. They are all to be reinstated by Aug. 19.

This is the report of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration in full: State Board's Report

In the matter of the controversy between the Boston Elevated Railway company and the Carmen's union of Boston and its vicinity.

The strike which has existed between the Boston Elevated Railway company and certain of its employees was investigated by the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration and certain findings of fact were made, and recommendations were submitted as follows:

"The existing controversy seriously affects the public and the board recommends to the parties that in conference they endeavor by agreement to accomplish an amicable settlement, which shall be alike just to the company and its employees and the public which it is its duty to serve."

"Subsequent to these recommendations the parties met in conference and entered into an agreement for the termination of the controversy which contained the following provision:

"Third: The State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration to determine what men shall be taken back by the company and the time within which, and the rating at which, they shall be taken back, their decision to be final."

"In accordance with the terms of this agreement the following communication was received by the board:

Ask for Board's Aid

"State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, State House, Boston: 'Gentlemen—Representing respectively the Boston Elevated Railway company and the Carmen's union, we enclose herewith a copy of an arrangement entered into with the employees of the company, the third clause of which refers to the submission to your board of certain differences still existing between us.

"We desire to have you at your earliest convenience pass upon the subject matter referred to in said third clause, and as you will note your decision is to be final.

"Yours very respectfully,

"Frederic E. Snow,

"Attorney for Boston Elevated Railway company."

"James H. Vahay,

"Attorney for Carmen's union."

"The board pursuant to this request, and of the duty imposed upon it by law to endeavor by mediation to obtain an amicable settlement, has heard the parties by their duly authorized attorneys, has heard the attorney of other employees than those represented in the Carmen's union, and determines the questions submitted as follows:

"First: That the company shall restore to their former positions and ratings such employees as desire to return who were discharged from May 1 to June 7, 1912, for the reason designated as 'unsatisfactory service,' and those who voluntarily left its service on June 7, except such as have been charged before the court with the offense of being guilty of a breach of peace or acts of violence against persons and property, and have not been acquitted, or if convicted, and appeal taken, have not been acquitted by the superior court.

"Second: That the men who are to be re-employed shall be returned to their employment as speedily as circumstances will permit but all prior to Monday, Aug. 19, 1912; and all who desire to return shall give notice to the company on or before Aug. 15. The board suggests that the ratio be returned in the order of their seniority."

"By the board,

"Bernard F. Supple, Sec'y."

REV. E. H. NEWCOMB

The First Congregational society held a meeting last night and voted to concur with the church which had previously met and voted to extend a call to Rev. E. H. Newcomb of Framingham to accept the pastorate of the church.

Rev. Mr. Newcomb is to succeed Rev. B. A. Willmott, who resigned some time ago. Rev. Mr. Newcomb has supplied the pulpit of the First Congregational church on two Sundays since Mr. Willmott's resignation and the people have agreed unanimously upon their choice.

LOST DOG FOUND

Two youngsters, Francis Raymond Bridges and Fred Desjardins, dropped into The Sun office yesterday and the former held in his arms a little black and tan dog. He said that the little canine was found on Tremont street yesterday afternoon. The dog was asleep at the time and they picked him up and came directly to the office. When asked why they came to The Sun, the Bridges lad said that he was told that the only way to find the owner of anything is to have the matter advertised in the paper. He said "so we just came down here with the dog." The dog is now in the possession of Young Bridges who lives at 57 Worthen street.

"UNCLE" JOE CANNON

Is Still Ready for a Scrap

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Uncle Joe Cannon, though deposed as speaker, is still full of fight. With a bang of his fist on his desk he denounced as "unqualifiedly untrue" a charge by Representative Burnett of Alabama, democcrat, that when speaker Mr. Cannon had deliberately led his followers from the chamber to break a quorum and in that way defeat immigration legislation. Before impeaching Mr. Burnett's veracity Mr. Cannon twice asked him to retract. There was no scene.

KILLED BY AUTO BROCKTON GIRL WAS VISITING HER UNCLE

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Adeline Gordon, 8 years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. M. Gordon of 9 Gurney avenue, Brockton, who was visiting her uncle, Louis Gediman, at 325 Meridian street, East Boston, was killed yesterday afternoon by an automobile owned by Deputy Sheriff Albert C. Tilden of 25 Falcon street. The driver, Joseph L. Arthur, 17 years old, of 201 Webster street, was arrested by Sgt. Sweeney and Patrolman F. J. Driscoll on the charge of manslaughter. He was bailed out.

The only witness the police have been able to find is Albert Green of 123 Eutaw street, East Boston. He says the child ran from the sidewalk into Meridian street, where the automobile was coming along at a moderate speed. Arthur turned the machine to avoid her, but Green says she apparently became confused, as she ran directly in front of the auto.

Both wheels on the right side passed over her body. John F. Beale, custodian at the East Boston Catholic literary association, heard her screams and turned around in time to see the wheels passing over. Beale picked the child up and placed her in the machine. She died in East Boston Relief hospital 20 minutes later.

Young Arthur's father was Thomas Arthur, a business man and well known in Democratic politics. The boy has been operating an automobile several years, his mother, Mrs. Josephine Arthur, owning a machine.

MATRIMONIAL

At 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon the marriage of Mr. Charles Leslie Tucker and Miss Margaret Blanche Shaw was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Shaw, in Hildreth street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Forester A. McDonald. Misses F. Edith Tucker and Agnes Minton Shaw acted as bridesmaids, while Mr. Thomas Shaw was best man. Miss Doris Anna Tucker was flower girl and Mr. Albert Shaw and Dr. A. P. Shaw were ushers. Miss Minnie E. Tucker played the Lohengrin wedding march as the bridal couple entered the parlor. The bride wore a gown of white lace and veil and carried American beauty roses. Both carried white asters. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served and Mr. and Mrs. Tucker received a large number of gifts. Numerous wedding gifts of every description were received and the happy couple left for a wedding trip to various points of interest in Canada. After September they will be at home in Hamilton, Ontario.

Col. Cornwell of Pennsylvania Was on His Way Home to Face Charges

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 7.—Accused of a shortage of many thousand dollars from the estates entrusted to his care, Col. Gibbons Gray Cornwell of Westchester, Pa., commander of the Sixth regiment, National guard of Pennsylvania, and prominent as a lawyer, shot himself through the head and died instantly in a Pennsylvania railroad train in this city last evening.

He was on his way to Westchester from New York, accompanied by William Mullen, a constable, and as the train pulled out of the North Philadelphia station he suddenly reached into a grip, which he had placed on a seat in front, whipped out a revolver and sent a bullet into his brain.

The shooting came as a tragic development that gave some inkling of the extent of Col. Cornwell's entanglements.

Lawyers who have made a hasty investigation of estates for which the colonel was counsel place the losses at $55,000, but say the total amount may exceed $150,000.

At the very time that Colonel Cornwell fired the shot that ended his life hundreds of residents of Westchester were congregated at the railroad station, some to offer their sympathy, and others drawn merely out of curiosity, awaiting the arrival of the train.

In the Cornwell home on Church street the colonel's four little sons, dressed in white duck suits, were happy in the thought of "seeing daddy again," as the eldest, Gibbons Cornwell, 10 years, put it.

Bondsmen were ready in the office of Justice of the Peace Paxton to supply any amount asked to gain Col. Cornwell's liberty.

Then came the news that the guardsman had killed himself. The message shocked the entire town. Mrs. Cornwell fainted when the news was broken to her and at midnight it was said was in a serious condition.

Col. Cornwell was arrested in New York on Monday, charged with disposition of bonds to which he had no title. He had been missing since the end of the National Guard encampment at Gettysburg and search was started for him Monday morning.

When he was arraigned in New York yesterday he agreed to return to Westchester without requisition papers, and searched his clothes, but nobody thought of the grip. I've been a friend of the colonel's for years, and I didn't think he would do such a thing. No thought of that ever entered my mind. I was so sure the colonel would make no attempt to escape or harm himself that I didn't handcuff him."

PORKY FLYNN

JIM BARRY

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The full 12 rounds of a bout reminiscent for the greater part of a furious setto between rabid clam patties brought Daniel "Porky" Flynn of Boston the decision over Jim Barry of Chicago at the Arena last evening, marking the reopening of the Pilgrim A. A.

It was anyone's bout, including the spectators and the referee, for the first nine rounds. Barry had little to show and behaved himself accordingly, Flynn exhibiting what little action was on the program.

James of Chicago, betrayed a few abortive flurries that netted a view of flying gloves at the opening periods of a few rounds, but for the greater part monotonous reigned undisturbed. Referee Maffitt Flaherty warned the pair to forget the correct limitation of a sewing circle in the third round and things warmed a trifle but only a trifle.

In the last four rounds Barry made a palpable effort to keep his blood in circulation. "Porky" responded somewhat and cut loose in the final round, showing what might have happened to Barry earlier. It was a very mournful affair.

The preliminaries were fair to middling, "Spider" Murphy lowering his colors to Teddy Murphy in five rounds in the opening affair. Al. Ready of Chelsea getting the award over Joe Farnen of the North End in six rounds of good milling, and Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea putting Billy Allen of Syracuse away in the second round of their meeting.

There was nothing unusual about the colonel's actions. He seemed satisfied to go with us and was pleased to know he did not have to remain in prison to await extradition papers.

"The New York detectives left us at the train. Col. Cornwell and I sat in a day coach at the rear end. He sat next to the window and I was by his side. He placed the valise on the floor in front of us. We talked on general subjects—the weather, scenery, etc.

"After leaving New York Col. Cornwell lifted the valise to his knees, opened it and took out a newspaper.

"He put it in his inside pocket and remarked that it was money for his wife. He said he would either mail it or give it to me to deliver. After that he looked the grip and instead of putting it back at our feet, placed it on the seat in front of us, which was not occupied.

"I thought nothing of that action at the time, but now I see its significance. Col. Cornwell again engaged in conversation, but never referred to his own trouble. Later the colonel said he felt tired, that he had not slept well for several nights. Then he leaned forward on the seat.

"He remained in that position, with his head on his arms, until the train reached the North Philadelphia station. Apparently he dozed, or tried to make me believe he did, for he rolled his head from side to side, peering from the window and blinking his eyes as the train came to a stop.

"Just as the train had started his hand shot down to the bag and the next instant I saw a revolver in it. I tried to grab the weapon, but I was too late. The colonel had placed it to his head and fired.

"Didn't you search Col. Cornwell before you started with him from New York?" the constable was asked.

"Oh, yes," he answered. "We

BILLERICA

The selectmen of Billerica acting as a building committee may tonight at their meeting award the contract of the new Fordway bridge in their town to the Charles R. Gow company of Boston, who are the lowest bidders for the job. Their bid is $23,500, while the highest bid was $27,000. The contractors will furnish bonds to the amount of $7500 if the contract is awarded them and they will start work within ten days after the contract is signed.

While the work is being done a temporary foot walk not less than four feet wide with safe provision for foot travel at all times will be built by the contractor. The bridge will be closed to electric cars and teams during the period of construction and the present water pipe is to be carefully supported in its present location until the new bridge is so far completed that a new pipe can be installed in its final location.

go to 2d. The Jeff continued the good work, banging a single to centre and scoring the little fellow. Clemens walked and Magee was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Ruben De Croff, who was also rather easy picking for the Worcester southpaw in former games then matched to the plate. He was there and gave the ball a drive that landed the little horseshoe in right field and when the latter was returned on third as all stations were made vacant by Ruben's hit and the score was just six to one. The score:

Score 6 to 1—Pfeffer
Twirls Heady Game,
Dee Came Back"BIG JEFF" PFEFFER
Who Added Another Victory to His List Yesterday

WORCESTER, Aug. 7.—The Lowell champs finally got to pitcher "Dixie" Boehling yesterday, and won by the score of 6 to 1. "Dixie" until yesterday had Lowell's goat, but he worked out of his turn, having pitched against Lowell at the Spindle City Saturday and his batters that were heretofore invincible were frightened out in fine style.

"Big Jeff" Pfeffer, who has yet to lose a game, was on the rubber for the Grays and after the first inning when Worcester scored its only run, the big one had complete control of the situation. He pitched a magnificent game, and had the batters breaking their backs reaching out for the wife ones.

There was out to take the game at any cost and picked his south paw to bowl 'em over. He went five for a while but the lucky seventh, turned the tables. When Worcester sent one over in the opening inning, it looked rather blinky for the champs, but they began to hit 'em out and the break came in the seventh, when Boehling weakened and the champs banged his sizzlers to the different corners of the diamond.

After Lowell had gone out in order in the first inning, in the latter half Worcester started the fireworks, and sent one man over the par. Marty Nye, started with two batters and he went to third on Shorten's sacrifice. Flaherty hit one that took a bad bound over Dee and Nye scored. McCune batted the ball to right and Flaherty raced to third. Crum hit a hot one to "Big Jeff" who slammed the ball home in time to get Flaherty at the plate. Clemens died to Magee.

Lowell almost scored in the second, but didn't. After Halstein had singled to left, Miller went out on a fly. Bonites slammed one out to the outfield and Halstein went to third. Jake purloined second. With two on Dee struck out and Lavigne hit to Boehling, who knocked the ball down and there was nothing doing.

Several other good chances were lost, but the fun, from a Lowell standpoint, came in the seventh when Shorty Dee, who had been a little off color for the past few days "came back" and banged out the hit that sent in the first run. The half dozen errors came like this. Halstein, first up, went to first on four wide ones. Miller bunted and Hase and Boehling ran for the ball while Nye went to cover the first station. Boehling got the ball and threw to Nye and Miller and the Worcester second baseman came to gether with the result that the ball was lost and went to right field. In the meantime, Halstein went to third and Miller took second. Bonites hit to McCune and was retired. With one out and two men on the sacks, the situation didn't look exceptionally good, owing to the fact that Dee was only on Saturday. But the little fellow was there with the wallop, and he slammed the pill to centre field, with the result that Lowell went into the lead. Halstein and Miller came home. Crum's throw to the plate in an attempt to get Miller, allowing Dee to

DIAMOND NOTES

Fine work.

Fall River here today and tomorrow and probably Friday and Saturday.

The boys should fatten up a little now that the Brimbletons are with us.

"Shorty" Dee, who had a little slump, returned with the goods yesterday, and his hit when it came, was a hulu.

Several scouts were present at the game, and their purpose was to look Halstein over.

"Big Jeff" is certainly pitching wonderful ball. He has won all his games so far and he is several. It was principally through his heady work that the victories were made.

The Gracies would like to arrange a game with some 16 or 17 year old team in or about the city. Send challenges to R. Taylor, 42 Sutherland street.

The O. M. I. Cadets would like to hear from the Rangers for a game to be played Saturday on the South common. Address, J. Taft, 153 East Merrimack street.

The Dixwells are without a game for Saturday and would like to hear from some strong team in the city.

Here Are Three Men Regarded as the Greatest of All Ball Players

Who is the greatest baseball player? The answer depends largely on the place of residence of the man to whom the query is propounded. Loyal Detroit fans will undoubtedly declare Cobb to be the greatest all around player of this or any other age. He leads his league as a batsman and as a base runner. He is a hard worker, and he is always on his toes. That he is a great player all will admit, but there are many who will declare that Hans Wagner excels him a few points. The admirers of the "Fixing Ditchman" declare he is a little quicker thinker than the "Georgia Peach" and that he is all great, and all are ornaments to the great American game.

ability, and is perhaps more versatile than Cobb. Boston also has a candidate when the greatest baseball player is being chosen. He is Tris Speaker, the clever outfielder for the Red Sox. He is second only to Cobb as a batter, he has stolen almost as many bases, and, though he has made fewer hits, he has a total of more bases, as he knocks the ball farther and does not reach first so often on close decisions. Perhaps it is unfair to make comparisons, but so long as baseball is talked such arguments will be heard. Fans will agree that these three athletes are all great, and all are ornaments to the great American game.

CRUMBS OF BASEBALL

Circuit Dope Sheets

Umpire Kerins' days are numbered as a New England league umpire.—Boston Record.

Mal Barry had scored but two runs for Brockton himself in the last 17 games played up to Saturday, rather unique for a hard hitting player batting third in the list.

Ty Cobb will have to get busy if he is thinking of leading the league in number of stolen bases this year. Most of the Senators has got away with over 55 stolen bases, while the Georgia Peach is credited with but 49.

Among the leading hitters of the American league the Athletics have three in a row. Stuffy McInnis, Frank Baker and Eddie Collins are at present hitting fourth, fifth and sixth respectively. Their averages are .346, .344 and .340.

Tom Madden, the former New England league backstop, has made a decided hit with the Montreal fans. His injured fingers are once more in good condition, and in his last few games

FROM HARDWARE SALESMAN TO PITCHER

From a hardware salesman to a pitcher in the Texas league, with a jump from San Antonio to Chicago and back to Dallas mixed in, all within a few days, is some record, but a young man by the name of Englehart has just put it over.

Some time ago in San Antonio Bobbie Wallace, San Antonio's nifty little shortstop, recognized a spectator in the stands as a former teammate of his on a fast Chicago semi-professional team. The spectator was Englehart, who was visiting San Antonio as a hardware drummer. Wallace went over to Englehart and made himself known and the two chatted together for awhile. Wallace found out that Englehart was in the mood still to play ball. He is a pitcher. As San Antonio was needing pitchers, Wallace told Manager Leidy about Englehart. Leidy said, "Trot him out."

A uniform was dug up for the hardware salesman, and he warmed up before the Broncho boss. Leidy was very much impressed with the young man's looks. Morris Block, owner of the club, was called into consultation. He, too, looked upon the young man with favor. It was decided to make him an offer. The offer seemed to hit Englehart in the right spot.

"Will you join the team now?" asked Leidy.

"Well, I must give up my job first," replied Englehart. "Where will you be Monday?"

"We'll be in Dallas," answered Leidy.

"I'll join you there, then," said the drummer.

Englehart then hopped on a train for Chicago, quit his job and returned to Dallas Monday night and announced himself ready for work. He paid his own fare to Chicago and back.

Sullivan played 16 games in the field at second and short without an error up to the latter end of last week. The last seven games he played at short were errorless performances and he played nine games following at second without a slipup.

George Boardman played 13 games up to Saturday without making an error at third base, but broke into that run with a misplay in the first game of the doubleheader. Once before this season he went for 17 consecutive games without a misplay on the hot corner.—Exchange.

Bill Cunningham, another New Bedford graduate, contributed a double and single in four times at bat for Montreal against Newark Sunday and crossed the plate twice. He also is credited with the only stolen base of the game. He took seven of eight chances in the field.—Exchange.

Brockton made ten errors in the two games Saturday, something most unusual for them. Rutledge made two in the first contest before he was replaced by Wadleigh. In the second game Fall River jumped in with a 4 to 0 lead in the first inning, but Brockton came right back with three, and won the game with four runs in the sixth.

Brocktons play at Haverhill Wednesday and Thursday of this week, their first appearance on the Haverhill grounds since May 18, a period of a little over 11 weeks. Oh, say, but it's some schedule, isn't it? It was many weeks that Brockton didn't even see the Cross men on the local grounds.—Brockton Times.

Andy O'Connor, the Roxbury ball player, who tried out with Lawrence last season, who was reported killed by a train in Michigan, was a mighty surprised last when informed he had been told his mother. He is playing with Pittsfield, Mass., and was in Bennington, Vt., when told that the police had notified his mother about his death.

Billy Cooney, who once drew salary from the Boston Nationals and did a great deal toward Lowell winning the pennant last year, is once more ready for action. Early in the season he was traded to the Haverhill team, but just as his batting eye came around he was injured, and has since done little playing only as a pinch hitter. Now he is back in the game and the Haverhill fans are happy.—Exchange.

The Lawrence Sun says: One of the New England pitchers who is slated for a berth "higher up" the coming season is Harrington, premier twirler of the Lynn club, which secured him two years ago when he was only a Wakefield high school boy. His record with the Lynn club for this season is something like 19 wins and eight defeats, and his pitching has been quite up to the sensational form he showed in 1911, the first year in organized baseball, when, among other achievements, he pitched two one-hit games.

Harrington was grafted last fall by the Louisville club of the American association, but during the winter he figured in a trade whereby the Chicago Nationals secured control of his services and he was ordered south by Manager Chance for spring practice.

When Chicago started its cutting down process the club wrote to Manager Frank J. Leonard of Lynn, asking if the Lynn team would like to repurchase Harrington. Leonard couldn't get an answer back quick enough and the Wakefield boy returned to Lynn and to Ocean park. There was a proviso in the sale, however, whereby Chicago has any time this season up to Aug. 20 to take Harrington back at a stipulated price.

REDS NEED REAL SHORTSTOP

Business Manager Bancroft of Cincinnati is quoted as saying: "Grand fix we're in for shortstops. Esmond can field and can't hit; McDonald can bat and can't field—and there you are. Wish the rules could be arranged so Esmond could do all the fielding and McDonald all the batting, then we'd be able to defy the world. As it is now we don't seem to quite make the proper combination."

JUMPER RICHARDS HAS HOBBY

It has been a common thing for athletes in this country to consider some part of their wearing apparel as a mascot in competition, and they sometimes carry their superstition so far as to wear a shirt that ought to have been sent to the laundry long before. Alma Richards, the American who won the Olympic high jump honors recently, is probably of this class. Osgood correspondent cabled as follows:

"Richards won the admiration of the crowd by his beautiful jumping style. The victor created no end of amusement because he insisted upon jumping in a ragged old felt hat, which he considers a valuable mascot. Several of the committee laughingly asked him to remove the hat, but Richards firmly declined."

PATCHEN II WINS
AT PITTSBURGHOutclassed Patch and Gentry Scions

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 7.—It was a day of close finishes at the meet of the Grand Circuit yesterday. Scions of the Patchen, Patch and Gentry families started in the two pacing events, but only one, Joe Patchen II, lived up to family traditions. He was in the Fort Pitt stake 2:13 class and took the race in straight heats, going two of them in 2:05. Pearl Patch, a bay mare by Dan Patch, was a disappointment, getting no better than third money.

The Patchen horse clearly outclassed his field. He has not been beaten this year. He got away to a clean lead in all three heats and was never worried by Grand Opera, who ran second. In the first heat Grand Opera and Pearl Patch made a fine brush of it for place, Joe Patchen being a length or more in the lead. In the second heat Pearl Patch was again beaten out for place by Grand Opera, Gray whipping hard to bring her under the wire third, but Stebbins Lad, in a burst of speed, crowded the Patch horse into fourth.

In the 2:12 pace Jones Gentry and Princess Patch were looked upon to furnish the excitement, but there was little trouble in the former taking every heat. Third money was all Princess Patch could do. In the second heat Cox, with Mansfield, crowded Gentry at the three-quarter pole, but coming into the stretch Murray pulled out in a safe lead. Gentry did the last heat in 2:05 1/4.

The preparation stake for 2-year-old trotters was the best race of the day. Lord Allen took this event in two straight heats. Three heats were necessary to decide the 2:03 trot, which was won by Helen Stiles, who won two heats. The summary: 2:12 class, pacing, 3 in 5; purse $1000. Jones Gentry, ch. g. Murray...1 1 1. ## BIGAMY CHARGE

MAY BE MADE AGAINST PHILADELPHIA MAN

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Abraham Bramson of Philadelphia, who has been married twice was arrested in Lynn yesterday for non-support of his first wife. Today, he probably will be charged with bigamy.

He came to Lynn to attend the wedding of his sister, and said friendly call on the first Mrs. Bramson, who he though had been divorced from him. She lives at 17 Pleasant street.

"Why don't you get married again like I did, Ida?" he asked after shaking hands.

"I can't," she replied. "I haven't been divorced."

Then it was revealed that Bramson had been served with the papers in her suit for divorce three years ago and that he thought the summons was a certificate of divorce. He paid a Philadelphia lawyer $25 and was told he had the right to marry again, he says. Bramson and wife No. 1 told their troubles to a Lynn lawyer, who had the man arrested. Judge Lummas suggested that the police learn whether Bramson's story of a second marriage was true. Bramson was held in $300.

He and Ida were married in Russia in 1902 and lived together in Lynn for three years. They had one child. Three years ago he said he loved her no more, and disappeared. His present address is 746 South Fifth street, Philadelphia.

DETECTIVE BURNS RAN GAMBLING HOUSE

In Order to Trap Police Officials

THREE SAID TO HAVE BEEN CAUGHT

By the Use of the Telegraph

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Three police officials and one civilian have been trapped by William J. Burns in the act of accepting money in payment for permitting gambling houses to operate in New York.

The evidence against these persons will be presented to the grand jury by Mr. Burns immediately after Dist. Atty. Whitman has finished his investigation into the actual murder of Herman Rosenthal.

The civilian referred to is a lawyer. As far as could be learned yesterday, the three members of the police department can only be designated at this time as a lieutenant and two other officials who are "more than lieutenants."

Mr. Burns, who arrived in New York yesterday from Baltimore, said: "I absolutely refuse to discuss this matter with the newspapers."

In spite of this fact information is at hand that Burns began an investigation into "graft" conditions in New York more than three months prior to the murder of Herman Rosenthal.

At the time of the assassination he was almost ready to make his report to Dist. Atty. Whitman.

Three months ago every gambling house in New York closed up for a time and the proprietors began a search for dictagraph wires. It having been discovered that a supposed dictagraph was being operated in one of them.

The "dictagraph" was found not to be a dictagraph at all, but a telegraph, an instrument which records voices and which, up to that time, it is stated, had not been used by any detective except Burns.

News of the discovery, it was said, was flashed to police headquarters, where the officials insistently denied that they had been guilty of such "ungentlemanly" conduct as installing such an instrument, and it was immediately decided that Burns was the guilty man.

A well known detective agency was employed to find out if Burns was investigating gambling or not. A fund of $50,000 was raised for the purpose, during which time gambling all over the city was suspended. After while the agency reported to the gamblers that all was well so far as they could learn.

It was explained to the gamblers that Burns had put in the instrument to record the voices of certain police officials and politicians who toyed with chance in the house in which the machine was discovered.

There were numerous witnesses called but their testimony proved to be of a conflicting nature.

According to the testimony offered the act occurred in the Tremont and Suffolk No. 5 mill on July 31 and other previous dates.

After the evidence had been put in Burns was not called to the stand. This is just how near the gamblers of New York came to cheating William J. Burns out of the credit for the exposure of the system of graft which is now coming.

It was not believed at this time that the "system" could ever be caught and no one paid any further attention to Burns. It was then, however, that Burns began his investigation, and he has progressed so far that he was just in the act of turning his evidence over to the district attorney when Rosenthal was killed.

For this reason, it is said, Burns has denied that he was employed by the district attorney to investigate the police graft and Rosenthal's case. He was employed for this very work for months before Rosenthal turned informer.

LAWN PARTY

TO BE HELD AT COLLINSVILLE
SATURDAY

A largely attended meeting of the committees in charge of the lawn party to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, under the auspices of St. Mary's parish, Collinsville, was held in Harmony hall last evening. The plans for the affair and the indications point to a most successful function. During the afternoon a grand list of attractions, including sports and amusements, will be carried out and in the evening a grand entertainment program will be given.

The affair will be held on the grounds, surrounding the hall, which will be illuminated and especially decorated for the occasion. Dancing will also be one of the feature numbers on the program. The returns of the party will be turned over to the church fund and the managers are confident that a goodly sum will be realized.

BIG VERDICT

WAS WON BY A PATENT SUIT YESTERDAY

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—Judge Dodge, sitting in the United States district court yesterday, issued a judgment for $406,175 in favor of Professor Reginald S. Fessenden, the wireless inventor, against the National Electric Signaling company. The professor brought suit against the company for breach of contract.

On motion of Robert M. Morse, counsel for the defendant, the court ordered a stay of execution of the judgment until Aug. 21.

Following this action of the court Professor Fessenden filed a bill in equity in the district court seeking to secure eighty-five patents on wireless apparatus, which are now held by the defendant company to satisfy the judgment of $406,175.

BIDS FOR COAL CLOSED TODAY

Water Dept. Wants a

ALD. BARRETT EXPECTS SAVING

By Making Purchase at Present Time

Bids on ten cars of Pocahontas coal for the water department closed at 1 o'clock this afternoon. The coal is to be used for the Cook wells. Ald. Barrett, who has charge of the water and fire departments, declared at a recent meeting of the municipal council that the time to buy coal was when you didn't need it. He said it had been the custom for the water department to buy coal when necessity demanded the purchase and he claimed that in this way the department always paid the top-notch price. He allows that a big saving can be made by purchasing a winter's supply of coal during the summer months. He said that when he took charge of the water department there wasn't coal enough to keep the plant going for one week and upon coming home from Boston one night he found that the Centralville pumping station was out of coal and would have to shut down unless coal was provided. He bought coal and paid a big price for it, he said.

To Save Pawtucket Street

The street department is doing business in Pawtucket street. That street is to be paved between Merrimack and School streets and the street department this morning started the work of resetting the edgstones. The water department is laying pipes in Pawtucket street at the present time and the street department will start paving just as soon as the water department has completed its work. The street will be paved with concrete blocks, with concrete base, grout filling and when completed will be quite an improvement over the street as it is at present.

DIRECT SENTENCE FOR PRISONER

Who Was Charged With Serious Offense

This morning's session of the police court proved to be a long drawn out affair, several hours being devoted to the hearing of the complaints against Chas. Pappas, one charged him with indecent exposure and the other with lewd, wanton and lascivious behavior and speech.

There were numerous witnesses called but their testimony proved to be of a conflicting nature.

According to the testimony offered the act occurred in the Tremont and Suffolk No. 5 mill on July 31 and other previous dates.

After the evidence had been put in Burns was not called to the stand. This is just how near the gamblers of New York came to cheating William J. Burns out of the credit for the exposure of the system of graft which is now coming.

ANOTHER BREAK

THE MARKET STRONG

Substantial Gains in Reading and Consolidated Gas—Other Features of the Day's Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Prices were generally steadier and the undertone heavy at the opening of today's stock market. Canadian Pacific fell a full point with weakness in the copper share.

Selling was more persistent after the opening and prices of various issues, chiefly specialties, were considerably lower. Canadian Pacific declined two points with one to two points loss in American Tobacco, Smelting, Beet Sugar and Biscuit.

In its routine and professional aspects today's early stock market showed no essential changes from recent sessions. Trading was dull and spasmodic with the undertone more or less irregular. Active issues moved within restrictive limits for the most part, with some heaviness in Steel and Metal shares, the latter reflecting weakness abroad. Prominent rallies manifested slight pressure at times and a few of the high priced specialties were distinctly weak.

The speculative market was active and brisk rise in some of the specialties issued notably Reading and Lehigh Valley, which rose in response to what looked like genuine demand, while St. Paul further improved its position.

Interest and activity continued to center about the coals, Reading and Lehigh Valley adding to earlier gains with sympathetic strength in other standard stocks and some specialties, including St. Paul, Reading and Buttrick, while American Tobacco sold lower than before.

The market closed strong. After some further irregularity caused by another break in American Tobacco, the market turned strong in the final dealings with substantial gains in Reading and Consolidated Gas. The balance of the list was at or near the days best price.

COL. ROOSEVELT

Continued

"Many of the delegates have arranged to go home at 5:30 p. m. today," said Flinn, "and it is not right to waste the time and keep them here."

Former Governor Fort of New Jersey moved as an amendment that the convention recess until 1 o'clock. After some discussion this motion was adopted and at 12:25 the convention went into recess until 1 o'clock.

Henry A. Allen of Kansas announced that the platform would not be ready for an hour and a half and he favored the motion to suspend the rules and nominate. This time the motion went through without serious objection.

"The clerk will call the roll of states for nominations for president of the United States," announced Chairman Beveridge.

J. O. Thompson arose.

"Alabama yields to New York," he announced.

But here the proceedings were interrupted, for William A. Prendergast of New York, scheduled to nominate Roosevelt, was not in the hall. Searchers hurried out to find him and the band filled in the wait.

After the hunt for Mr. Prendergast had been on for 20 minutes he appeared. A round of cheers greeted him as he was introduced and the bull moose call sounded through the hall. A hush of silence followed and Prendergast began his speech.

Prendergast concluded his speech at 2:22.

A sea of waving red bandanas appeared over the heads of the cheering delegates and hats were thrown into the air. Over the Colorado delegates appeared a banner emblazoned: "Wind-up for vice president."

From a gallery a big American flag was dropped. To it was attached a picture of Colonel Roosevelt in rough rider uniform. It was greeted with cheers. Enthusiasm became pandemonium and in the midst of the tumult a Minnesota delegate broke loose the state standard and started up the center aisle. New York fell into line, the Texas standard surmounted by a pole bearing an American flag came next and soon every state standard was swinging over a yelling, shrieking mob that surged through the aisle.

Some of the women delegates joined in the demonstrations waving handkerchiefs and cheering.

Roosevelt Nominated

Col. Roosevelt was the choice of the convention for president.

MANY DELEGATES

WERE ANXIOUS TO HEAR NOMINATING SPEECHES

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—The first floor debate of the progressive convention was precipitated today when the leaders waiting for the completion of the platform proposed a recess of an hour. Many of the delegates objected to this plan. They wanted to go ahead with the nominating speeches. Henry Allen of Kansas led the opposition to the recess and was seconded by William Flinn of Pennsylvania. Timothy Fort of New Jersey and several others standing by the leaders in favor of a recess and the motion was carried over the first chorus of "noes" marking the launching of the new party.

ROOSEVELT MEN

TO WIND UP THEIR CONVENTION TODAY

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Members of the new national progressive party planned to nominate Colonel Roosevelt as their standard-bearer in the presidential race and to ring down the curtain on their first national convention today. According to the arrangements of the leaders, the convention will conclude amid a display of oratorical pyrotechnics that is expected to attract thousands of spectators to the Coliseum.

Colonel Roosevelt will be placed formally in nomination by William A. Prendergast of New York a short time after the delegates reconvene at 11 o'clock. Mr. Prendergast's nominating address will be followed by the seconding speeches of eight persons, as follows: Miss Jane Addams, Chicago; Judge Ben Lindsey, Colorado; Governor Hiram W. Johnson, California; H. T. Allen, Kansas; General Horatio King, New York; H. V. Collins, Minnesota; J. M. Parker, Louisiana; and Lucius F. C. Garvin.

In addition to nominating Col. Roosevelt, the convention is scheduled to name Governor Johnson for second place on the ticket and to adopt a platform said to be the most advanced ever submitted to a national convention in this country.

The first thing on the convention's third day program is to effect a permanent organization quickly by making the temporary chairman, Albert A. Beveridge

SUFFRAGETTES GUILTY OF FIRING THEATRE

Four on Trial in Dublin—Woman Accused of Throwing Hatchet Will be Tried Today

DUBLIN, Aug. 7.—Four militant suffragettes were put on trial here yesterday on the charge of having committed serious outrages at the time of the visit to Dublin of the British prime minister.

Gladya Evans was found guilty of setting fire on July 15 to the Theatre Royal, where Mr. Asquith was scheduled to speak the following day on home rule. The charge against Miss Capper, who was accused of being an accomplice of Gladya Evans, was withdrawn, while Lizzy Baker, also charged as an accomplice, pleaded guilty to having property.

The jury disagreed in the case of Mrs. Mary Leish and she will be tried today on the charge of wounding John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, who was hit by a hatchet that was thrown at the premier's carriage while it was proceeding with the ministerial party to a hotel. Sentence was reserved in the case of the convicted woman.

A great crowd filled the courtroom and gathered outside. Timothy Healy, chief counsel for the women, was heard when he entered. He demanded the exclusion from the jury of all members of the society of Molly Maguires. He said that he refused to be incited by them and did not doubt that they were there by the government's orders.

The attorney general for Ireland, C.

O'Connor, with three assistants, conducted the prosecution. He described the attempt to burn the theatre and said it was only by a miracle that it escaped destruction. Witnesses testified to seeing Gladya Evans and another woman putting oil on the carpet and box curtains and trying to set them on fire and also to putting matches in a cinematograph box. The police testified that the first performance was ended and the house nearly empty when the attempt was made. The Evans woman struggled when arrested, and said: "This is only the beginning. There will be more explosions at the next performance."

Miss Evans declared that she had gone to the theatre for the purpose of burning it. A cabinet member, C. E. Hobhouse, leader of the Duchy of Lancaster, had told them that they would be justified in doing so.

Mr. Healy's cross-examination developed the assertion that Mr. Hobhouse in the course of a speech had said that the suffragettes would accomplish nothing until they began to burn houses. Mr. Healy in addressing the jury said that Miss Evans was not a criminal.

"She is one of those," he added, "who claim a right to vote for the selection of the members of parliament, who from what I have seen of them are not the extraordinary body of secret agents they imagine themselves."

GIRL JILTED BY MAN WHO TOOK HER MONEY

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—After relieving his bride-to-be of some $300 just before the marriage ceremony was to take place yesterday in St. Marie's church, Passaic, Frank Slaving, of 132 Fourth street, attempted to leave her and go to Garfield, a suburb of Passaic, where an eighteen-year-old blonde-haired maiden awaited him.

Slaving had been courting Miss Katie Blouin, of 112 Second street, for the past eight weeks. He learned about that time that Miss Blouin had a little money.

She went to the priest with Slaving and just before the ceremony he escaped. A constable found him in another home, where another maiden was preparing for the marriage.

On a charge of taking money under false pretense, Slaving was brought back to this city, and is now in the county jail in evening dress, awaiting the action of the grand jury.

DIVORCE EVIL WORST SAYS CARDINAL GIBBONS

Maryland Prelate Declares That It is a Fearful Menace to Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Before starting yesterday from Brooklyn for Southampton, L. I., where it has been his custom for several years to spend the month of August, Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore granted a two minute interview. The cardinal arrived in Brooklyn on Monday and was the guest over night of the Right Rev. Joseph S. Duffy, an old friend, at St. Agnes' rectory in Sackett street. The monsignor and his assistants congratulated the cardinal over the recent celebration of his seventy-eighth birthday and on his hale and hearty appearance in spite of his advanced years. The cardinal went yesterday forenoon to Southampton in an automobile with Mrs. Duffy.

"Mgr. Duffy," said the cardinal, "tells me you want an interview. What subject shall we discuss? You leave the choice to me. Well, I think two minutes devoted to the discussion of the greatest evil of the age—the greatest menace to the continued success of our great nation will be using our time as the Heavenly Father bids us do. We will talk on divorce."

"Divorce, as you doubtless know, is not recognized by the Roman Catholic church. The attitude of the church on this grave subject has been the subject of much misunderstanding and unfair criticism. Many claim the law to be a harsh one and not in accordance with domestic harmony. To that I will only say it is better to have a few suffer than recognize as proper that which as-sails the very bulwark of civilization—the holy bonds of matrimony.

"The church does recognize separation when a couple find their temperaments are of a conflicting nature and domestic harmony is not possible between them. But the church cannot and will not recognize a system that rends the ties which exist between man and wife.

"Of the prevalence of divorce in the United States I have much to say, but time presses and will not permit. Here I can only say that I deeply regret the evil has gained such a strong foothold in our beautiful country and hope for the day when it is no longer a dreadful menace at the very doors of our homes."

Before starting for Southampton the cardinal was driven through Prospect park and down to Coney Island. There he took in with keen eyes as he passed along Surf avenue the various attractions which have sprung up since he visited Coney Island some years ago. After a run to Brighton Beach and Sheepshead Bay there was a drive through the upper section of Brooklyn before the run down to Southampton.

During his sojourn at Southampton the cardinal will be the guest of the Rev. Francis J. O'Hara at the rectory of the Church of the Sacred Heart. Before leaving Brooklyn Cardinal Gibbons made tentative arrangements with Mgr. Duffy to be present at the dedication of St. Agnes' church in November.

SERGT. CARNEY

EXPECTS BRISK BUSINESS AT RECRUITING STATION

The month of August started off well at the local recruiting station on Middlesex street. During the past month the number of recruits dropped considerably, but Sgt. Carney, who is in charge of the station, is of the opinion that the present month will be a very good one. The army is still in need of men and active recruiting is the order all over the states. The local office is doing its share to increase the ranks, and it is expected that before the snow falls all arms will be completely filled.

The cause of the present order to accept recruits is due to the fact that a number of enlistments are expiring, and while many re-enlist there are quite a number who are leaving the service at the completion of their term.

REPAIRING BRIDGE

The work of repairing the Pawtucketville bridge is going along in fine style. The board walk on the right hand side of the structure is being torn up and will be replaced by new material. Several pipes will be installed, and other alterations made. This morning there was a large crowd of men at work on the bridge and it is expected that the job will be finished before long.

20,000,000 SCHOOL CHILDREN

Are Handicapped by Various Physical Defects

Arthur K. Whitecomb, superintendent of schools, has received a rather interesting communication from the Federal Bureau of Education, relative to physical defects in school children. The communication reads as follows:

Of the 20,000,000 school children in this country, not less than 75 per cent. need attention today for physical defects which are prejudicial to health and which are partially or completely remediable. This is the finding of Dr. Thomas D. Wood, professor of physical education in the Teachers' College, Columbia University, N. Y., and published for free distribution by United States bureau of education.

"Careful study of statistics and estimation of all conditions leads to the following personal conclusions," writes Dr. Wood.

"From 1 1/2 to 2 per cent., or 400,000, of these have organic heart disease. 'Probably' five per cent., 1,000,000, at least, have now, or have had tuberculosis of the lungs.

"About five per cent., or 1,000,000, have spinal curvature, flat foot, or some other moderate deformity serious enough to interfere to some degree with health.

"Over five per cent., or 1,000,000, have defective hearing.

"About 25 per cent., or 5,000,000 have defective vision.

"About 25 per cent., or 5,000,000, are suffering from malnutrition, in many cases due in part, at least, to one or more of the other defects enumerated. "Over 30 per cent., or 6,000,000, have enlarged tonsils, adenoids, or enlarged cervical glands, which need attention.

"Over 50 per cent., or 10,000,000, in some schools as high as 98 per cent., have defective teeth, which are interfering with health.

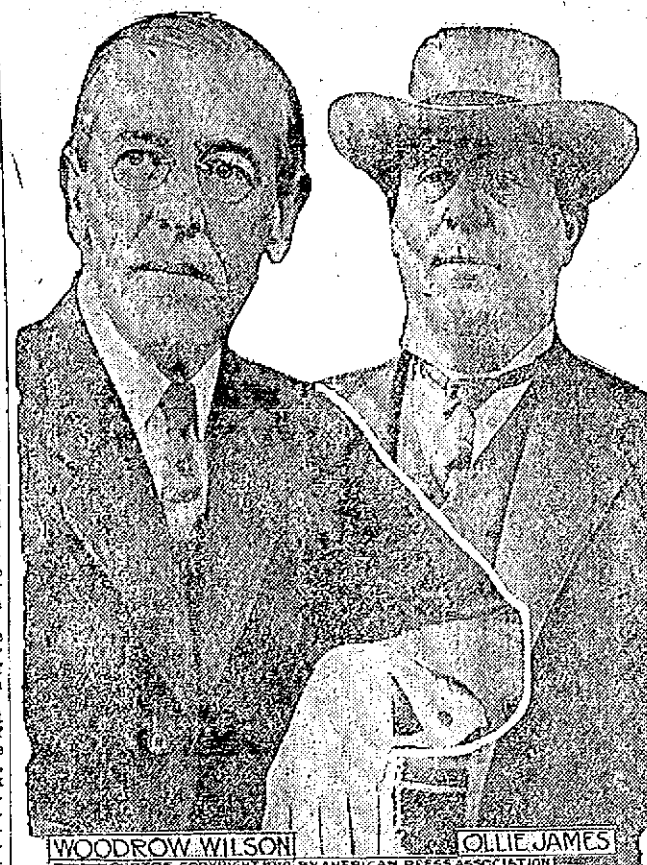

"Several millions of the children possess, each, two or more of the handicapping defects.

"About 100 cities in the United States have as many different kinds of organizations for the care of health in the schools.

"The most important of all our national resources is the health of the people. The most valuable asset in our capital of national vitality is the health of the children.

"Public education is the logical, the strategic, and the responsible agency of the nation, of each state, and of each community for the conservation and enhancement of child health.

"To become an effective instrument for the protection and promotion of child health, it is essential that the school should not only be a sanitary, healthful place for children, but that the various agencies in public education should be organized that each child may be given the best possible opportunity to escape weakness and disease and far more to realize the attainable best in growth in development of biologic, intellectual, moral, social and economic power."

need for wise counsel because the people are so ready to heed counsel if it be given honestly and in their interest.

It is in the broad light of this new day that we stand face to face—with what? Plainly, not with questions of party, not with a contest for office, not with a petty struggle for advantage, democratic against republican, liberal against conservative, progressive against reactionary. With great questions of right and of justice, rather—questions of national development, of the development of character and of standards of action no less than of a better business system, more free, more equitable, more open to ordinary men, practically to live under, tolerable, work under, or a better fiscal system whose taxes shall not come out of the pockets of the few, and within whose intricacies special privilege may not so easily find covert. The forces of the nation are asserting themselves against every form of special privilege and private control, and are seeking bigger things than they have ever heretofore achieved. They are sweeping away what is unrighteous in order to vindicate once more the essential rights of human life; and what is very serious to us, they are looking to us for guidance, disinterested guidance, at once honest and fearless.

At such a time, and in the presence of such circumstances, what is the meaning of our platform, and what is our responsibility under it? What is our duty and our purpose? The platform is meant to show that we know what the nation is thinking about, what it is most concerned about, what it wishes corrected, and what it desires to be attempted that is new and constructive and intended for its long future. But for us it is a very practical document. We are not about to ask the people of the United States to adopt our platform; we are about to ask them to entrust us with office and power and the guidance of their affairs.

The tariff
Our own clear conviction as democrats is, that in the last analysis the only safe and legitimate object of tariff duties, as of taxes of every other kind, is to raise revenue for the support of the government; but that is not my present point. We denounce the Payne-Aldrich tariff act as the most conspicuous example ever afforded the country of the special favor and monopolistic advantages which the leaders of the republican party have so often shown themselves willing to extend to those to whom they looked for campaign contributions. Tariff duties, as they have employed them, have not been a means of setting up an equitable system of protection. They have been, on the contrary, a method of fostering special privilege. They have made it easy to establish monopoly in our domestic markets. Trusts have owed their origin and their secure power to them. The economic freedom of our people, our prosperity in trade, our untrammeled energy in manufacture, depend upon their reconsideration from top to bottom in an entirely different spirit.

There should be an immediate revision, and it should be downward, unhesitatingly and steadily downward.

It should begin with the schedules which have been most obviously used to kill competition and to raise prices in the United States, arbitrarily and without regard to the prices pertaining elsewhere in the markets of the world; and it should, before it is finished, be extended to every item in every schedule which affords any opportunity for monopoly, for special advantage, or for subsidized control of any kind in the markets or the enterprises of the country; until special favors of every sort shall have been absolutely withdrawn and every part of the country and a day of freedom transformed from a system of governmental patronage into a system of just and reasonable charges which shall fall where they will create the least burden. When we shall have done that, we can fix questions of revenue and of business adjustment in a new spirit and with clear minds. We shall then be partners with all the business men of the country and a day of freedom, stable prosperity shall have dawned.

Continuing his discussion of the tariff, Gov. Wilson said:

I am not drawing up an indictment against anybody. This is the natural history of such tariffs as are now contrived, as it is the natural history of all other governmental favors and of all licenses to use the government to help certain groups of individuals along in life. No party in particular, I suppose, is to blame, and I am not interested just now in blaming anybody; I am simply trying to point out what the situation is, in order to suggest what there is for us to do, if we would serve the country as a whole. The fact is, that the trusts have been formed, have gained all but complete control of the larger enterprises of the country, have fixed prices and fixed them high so that profits might be rolled up that were thoroughly worth while, and that the tariff, with its artificial protections and stimulations, gave them the opportunity to do these things, and has safeguarded them in that opportunity.

The trusts
The trusts do not belong to the period of infant industries. They are not the products of the time, that old laborious time, when the great continent we live on was undeveloped, the young nation struggling to find itself and get upon its feet, a child older and more experienced competitors. They belong to a very recent and very sophisticated age, when men knew what they wanted and knew how to get it by the favor of the government. It is another chapter in the natural history of power and of "governing classes." The next chapter will set us free again. There will be no favor of trade in it. It will be a chapter of readjustment, not of pain and rough disturbance. It will witness a turning back from what is abnormal to what is normal. It will see a restoration of the laws of trade, which are the laws of competition and of unhampered opportunity, under which men of every sort are set free and encouraged to enrich the nation.

I am not one of those who think that competition can be established by law against the drift of a world-wide economic tendency; neither am I one of those who believe that business done upon a great scale by a single organization—call it corporation, or what you will—is necessarily dangerous to the liberties, even the economic liberties, of a great people like our own, full of intelligence and of indomitable energy. I am not afraid of anything that is normal. I dare say we shall never return to the old order of individual competition, and that the organization of business upon a great scale of co-operation is, up to a certain point, itself normal and inevitable.

Power in the hands of great business men does not make me apprehensive, unless it springs out of advantages which they have not created for themselves. Big business is not dangerous because it is big, but because its bigness is an unwholesome inflation created by privileges and exemptions which it ought not to enjoy. While competition cannot be created by statutory enactment, it can in large measure be revived by changing the laws and forbidding the practices that killed it, and by enacting laws that will give it heart and occasion again. We can arrest and prevent monopoly. It has assumed new shapes and adopted new processes in our time, but these are now being disclosed and can be dealt with.

The Labor Question
The so-called labor question is a question only because we have not yet found the rule of right in adjusting the interests of labor and capital. The welfare, the happiness, the energy and spirit of the men and women who do the daily work in our mines and factories, on our railroads, in our offices and markets of trade, on our farms and on the sea, is of the essence of the national life. There can be nothing wholesome, there can be no contentment unless they are contented. Their physical welfare affects the soundness of the whole nation. We shall never get very far in the settlement of these vital matters so long as we regard everything done for the working man, by law or by private agreement, as a concession or a bribe to keep him from agitation and the disturbance of our peace. Here, again, the sense of universal partnership must come into play if we are to act like statesmen, as these who serve, not a class, but a nation.

The working people of America—if they must be distinguished from the minority that constitutes the rest of the nation—No law that safeguards their life that improves the physical and moral conditions under which they live, that makes their hours of labor rational and tolerable, that gives them freedom to act in their own interest, and that protects them where they cannot protect themselves, can properly be regarded as class legislation or as anything but as a measure taken in the interest of the whole people, whose partnership in right action we are trying to establish and make real and practical. It is in this spirit that we shall act if we are genuine spokesmen of the whole country.

Merchant Marine
The question of a merchant marine turns back to the tariff again, to which all roads seem to lead, and to our regulatory laws, which, if coupled with the tariff, might almost be supposed to have been intended to take the American flag off the seas. Bounties are not necessary, if you will build up some of the things that have been done. Without a great merchant marine we cannot take our rightful place in the commerce of the world. Merchants who must depend upon the carriers of rival mercantile nations to carry their goods to market are at a disadvantage in international trade too manifest to need to be pointed out; and our merchants will not long suffer themselves, caught not to sustain themselves, to be placed at such a disadvantage. Our industries have expanded to such a point that they will burst their jackets, if they cannot find a free outlet unless they be given ships of their own to carry their goods—ships that will go the routes they want them to go, and prefer the interests of America in their sailing orders and their equipment. Our domestic markets no longer suffice. We need foreign markets. That is another force that is going to break the tariff down. The tariff was once a reciprocal; now it is a dam. For trade is reciprocal; we cannot sell unless we also buy.

Men Are Instruments
A presidential campaign may easily degenerate into a mere personal contest and so lose its real dignity and significance. There is no indispensable quality of the president which will collapse and go to pieces if any one of the gentlemen who are seeking to be entrusted with its guidance should be left at home. But men are instruments. We are as important as the cause we represent, and in order to be important must really represent a cause. What is our cause? The people's cause? That is easy to say, but what does it mean? The common sense of the gentleman who seeks to represent the government, a government that cannot be used for private purposes, either in the field of business or in the field of politics; a government that will not tolerate the use of the organization of a great party to serve the personal aims and ambitions of any individual and that will not permit legislation to be employed to further any private interest. It is a great conception, but I am free to serve it, as you also are. I could not have accepted a nomination which left me bound to any man or any group of men. No man can be just who is not free; and no man who has to show favors ought to undertake the solemn responsibility of government in any rank or post whatever, least of all in the supreme post of president of the United States.

To be free is not necessarily to be wise. But wisdom comes with common sense, with the frank and free conference of untrammelled men united in the common interest. Should I be entrusted with the great office of president, I would seek counsel wherever it could be had upon free terms. I know the temper of the country that lay back of that convention and spoke through it. I heard with deep thankfulness the message you bring me from it. I feel that I am surrounded by men whose principles and ambitions are those of true servants of the people. I thank God, and will take courage.

WILSON FAVORITE
BETTING IN WALL STREET 2 TO 1 ON HIM

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—Betting on the election, now that the Bull Moose have cleared their paths for action, is on in earnest, and from now, it is said by men who have had considerable to do with election betting in former years, there ought to be activity in the betting on the three cornered fight. Wall street betting has never been the big thing it was before the state fractured upon it. The number and the size of the bets that have appeared above the surface have been very moderate affairs. Wall street has seen only a trifling amount of real election or nomination wagering this year up to now.

Wilson is a 2 to 1 favorite. A heavy bet was recorded in the financial district yesterday on the governor at these odds against the field. These odds have ruled on Wilson for some time, having strengthened in the governor's favor from odds of 10 to 7 and 10 to 5 to the present figures. In New York there is considerable Wilson money ready, with $30,000 of odds a trifle less favorable on Wilson than 2 to 1.

President Taft rules last in the betting that has so far been reported. Odds of 5 to 4 and 10 to 7 are given that Roosevelt will beat out Taft. There is little difference between the odds that Wilson will beat Taft and that Wilson will beat Roosevelt, the strength of the money showing predominately over either.

Though the betting that is looked for now will not be anything like that of former years, a fair amount of activity is expected.

CALLED ON WILSON
SEA GIRT, Aug. 7.—The Woodrow Wilson club of Hoboken, 300 strong, arrived shortly after 11 o'clock and, headed by a band, marched to the governor's cottage.

For half past eleven the arriving crowd had begun to get into full swing and the roadway was jammed with automobiles. Gov. Mann of Virginia was the first of the governors to arrive.

"It is a great day for democracy," said Gov. Mann, as he greeted the nominee.

Gov. Mann was followed a few minutes later by Gov. Flanders of Maine, who talked earnestly with Gov. Wilson for a half-hour.

The marching clubs which arrived with brass bands bore orange and black pennants with a Wilson picture on them. On their coats they wore orange sunflowers.

REINSTATING STRIKERS
BOSTON, Aug. 7.—With the strike of the motemen and conductors of the Boston Elevated Railway company satisfactorily settled, the company officials today began the work of reinstating the strikers. The officials announced that they hope all the strikers would be back at work within a week.

THE LOCAL COMPANIES OF STATE MILITIA

Getting Ready to Start for Scene of "War"—Men to Report Saturday Night

The local militiamen are just longing for their annual encampment and war maneuvers which will be of special interest this year as they will be held on a larger scale than usual. The war maneuvers will last eight days and will take place between the states of Connecticut and New York. A feature of the maneuvers is the fact that a large number of men from the regular army will participate in the "war," which will be of great benefit to the militiamen.

The field of battle is not as yet known but it is presumed it will be somewhere in the vicinity of New York state. The camp will be divided into two sections, the "Reds" and the "Blues," and those who last year wore the red band around their hats will this year be in the blue camp with the exception of Company M, Ninth regiment who will retain the red ribbon as they are to be on the same side as their opponents of last year.

The maneuvers will be held on a much larger scale inasmuch as about 70,000 men are expected to participate. There is a considerable force of regular army men in the regular army who will be quite numerous.

The local companies, C, G, K and M, the latter of the Ninth regiment and the former of the Sixth, have completed all arrangements for the start which is to be made early Sunday morning.

The members of the Sixth regiment, C, G and K, have received orders to report at the local army in Westford street at 10 o'clock Saturday night in order to be ready to start at a moment's notice. The men will sleep in their respective quarters and be ready to start at 3 o'clock. A special train composed of flat cars for wagons, horse cars and troop cars, will leave the Northern station between 3 and 4 o'clock Sunday morning, and probably earlier, and will go direct to South Framingham, where the train will be boarded by Company E of the Sixth regiment. Breakfast will be served aboard the train which will continue its route to Derby, Conn., the headquarters of the "Blues."

The members of Company M, Ninth regiment, will report at the army at 5 o'clock Sunday morning for they are to start sometime in the forenoon. The Lawrence companies will join Company M in this city to board the same train which will proceed to Clinton where it will make a stop for other companies. From there it will continue its voyage to Worcester and then to Derby, Conn.

The "Blues" will include the Second, Sixth and Ninth Massachusetts regiments from Pennsylvania, while the "Blues" will be made up of regiments from New York and New Jersey. The Sixth regiment including C, G and K of Lowell, will have about 720 men and 36 officers. The men are all requested to carry along with them the following articles: A ready change of underwear, two pairs stockings, a comb and brush, towels and soap, tooth brush and powder and an old pair of shoes or sneakers to rest their feet at night.

They will wear their yellow drab uniform on the start and carry their roll as they will go on ready marching order. The army will be open until a reasonable hour Saturday night, and all the men of the Sixth are requested to report at 10 o'clock. Any man failing to report for the maneuvers will be arrested and court martialed.

Company G will hold a rendezvous pay drill at the army tomorrow night at which time the members will get their equipment ready for the voyage.

[SENT TO PRISON]

WOMAN WAS GIVEN TERM OF FIVE YEARS

DUBLIN, Aug. 7.—Mary Leigh, the suffragette who was tried today on the charge of wounding John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish parliamentary party, with a hatchet she had thrown at Premier Asquith's carriage July 12, was sentenced to five years' imprisonment. Gladys Evans, whose sentence was yesterday reserved after she had been found guilty of setting fire on July 18 to the theatre Royal here in which Mr. Asquith was scheduled to speak the following day on home rule, was also sentenced to a term of five years.

WM. C. RUSSELL

WITNESS AT HEARING OF FA-MOUS WILL CASE

CAMBRIDGE, Aug. 7.—It was the wish of the late Daniel Russell of Melrose that his son Daniel Blake Russell, who left home many years ago, should be found, according to the testimony of the other son, William C. Russell, at today's session of the master's hearing to determine the identity of a man from Dickinson, N. D., claiming to be Daniel Blake Russell. The question regarding the man from Fresno, Cal., whom he has taken into his home and recognized as his long lost brother Mr. Russell said that he never had talked with him regarding the disposition of the Russell estate.

SALISBURY BEACH RESERVATION

There is a great deal of interest all through the Merrimack valley in what the Salisbury Beach commission is going to do with the beach. The commission was appointed to assume control of the beach and make it a state reservation. The reason for this action was that a syndicate had secured a title to the beach with power to sell lots which power had not been granted to any of the parties that previously controlled the beach. The beach was originally deeded to the commoners of New England in colonial days, and they were to hold it perpetually for the people, thus having no power to sell it outright. They had, however, leased lots along the beach from the Merrimack river to the New Hampshire line, but the present syndicate secured through legislative enactment the power to sell lots, and as the leases of the lots expired, there was nothing left for the cottage owners to do but to abandon their buildings or purchase the lots at the prices fixed by the present syndicate. In this predicament the lot owners appealed to the legislature for relief, and the proposition to make the beach a state reservation was made law on condition that the cities and towns in the Merrimack valley shall be responsible for any deficit that may occur as a result of the changes which the commission may hereafter undertake.

Salisbury Beach is susceptible of vast improvement, the surf on what is known as the North End is probably the best in New England, but on the South End there is a strong undertow and bathing at high tide is very dangerous. There is a grand old walk on either side of the center for about a mile, and it was the intention of the syndicate to continue this from end to end of the beach. If the syndicate is obliged to relinquish the work, the improvement will probably be carried on under the direction of the commission. There is great need of a boulevard in the rear of the cottages from Black Rocks to Hampton Beach. This could be constructed at a moderate expense as the ground is level and sandy, and the course for the greater part of the way would follow an old road that is at present impassable to automobiles on account of the deep sand.

Once the commission assumes control of the beach it is probable that improvements will be made gradually from year to year, and in the course of ten years the beach will be one of the most attractive in New England. There is no doubt whatever about the beach needing all the necessary improvements, and it is believed that the cities of Lawrence, Haverhill and Lowell, mainly responsible for any possible deficit, will never be called upon to pay a single dollar. This is the opinion of members of the commission who understand the situation thoroughly. Their only fear is that some legal proceedings may delay the work longer than they expected.

The commission has thus far been criticized for inaction. It has done practically nothing except to make an offer to the syndicate owning the beach. To this offer the syndicate has not yet made any answer except to claim that the act is unconstitutional and will not stand in the courts. The commission, however, has no right to assume any such thing, and hence it will seize the beach at once time in the near future. The syndicate will then have an opportunity to take the matter to court and test the constitutionality of the act, but there is little ground on which to urge any such claim. The commission can seize the beach under the provisions of the act, and the question will afterwards come up: What will be a fair price to compensate the syndicate? A very considerable number of cottage owners have already purchased lots from the syndicate at a good price, and the syndicate will continue to sell the lots wherever it can. One would suppose that as soon as the commission had been appointed it would have notified the syndicate to stop selling lots. Some of those who have purchased lots entertained the idea that the commission will have their money refunded and the price fixed by appraisal. Of this, however, there is much doubt inasmuch as the lot owners having purchased voluntarily and paid their money, it is difficult to see how the state can break the bargain and cause the syndicate to refund the money thus paid.

ROOSEVELT'S CONFESSION OF FAITH

The Bull Moose party is now before the country and Colonel Roosevelt as its leader will soon start out upon his campaign. In his "confession of faith" he has very studiously touched upon practically all the evils and abuses from which the people of this country suffer today. He assails both the democratic and the republican parties as unworthy of support, and he holds out as the only salvation of this country the support of the party of which he is the head.

It is easy to anticipate the methods of campaign that he is to adopt. They will be of the same character as his speeches leading up to the Chicago convention. He will play the role of the demagogue, but will assume all the dignity of another Moses whose mission it is to lead the people of this country back to the promised land of the new America and the new liberties with which he is to invest them. He is to deliver the people of this country forever from all abuses, from all calamities, from all panics, from the trusts, the money power, the speculators and the combination known as the "interests." According to Roosevelt his party will be the great panacea for all the evils of government and maladministration that we suffer today. When Roosevelt was president of the United States he had an opportunity to remedy abuses and to stamp out class privilege, but instead of so doing he simply issued long harangues much in the same strain as his confession of faith at Chicago.

The question now to be considered is, whether the unwary voters of this country can be relied upon to judge of the Roosevelt clap-trap intelligently; whether they have the gumption not to be led away by his plausible promises and his attacks upon the other parties.

It would appear that a great many people like to be humbugged by glowing promises of prosperity to come, of reforms to be effected and an era of business activity and prosperity to be established. Who has not heard demagogues make such promises as those only to have them broken and disregarded after election?

When Col. Roosevelt puts forth his progressive party as the only hope for this nation, he is misleading the people, and he is playing the role of a demagogue. His policies in regard to overruling the supreme court by a referendum and by trenching upon the rights of the states are very dangerous. With Roosevelt as president the constitution would not be safe, the rights of the states would not be safe, and hence the liberties of the people would not be safe. The intelligent voters of this country should disregard the promises made by Roosevelt, and should vote to support the democratic party, which is now in a position to remedy most of the abuses of which the people complain, and to do so in a manner that will secure the maximum results with the minimum disturbance of business.

Before Roosevelt pictured himself standing at Armageddon, battling for the Lord, he should have assured his audience that Ananias is dead.

SEEN AND HEARD

The dictionary makers often look across to make their definitions. Their enemies, Dr. Johnson and Dr. Johnson, are generally given to horses, but in Scotland supports the people. He defined "pensioner" as a "slave of state, hired by a stipend to obey his master," which definition was made much of by the doctor's enemies when he himself was awarded a pension.

At a club dance the other evening an enthusiastic member approached a rather droll member and said: "Say, for heaven's sake go over and talk to Miss Fryte. She is sitting all by herself." "But—what shall I say to her?" "Tell her how pretty she is." "But she isn't pretty." "Well, then tell her how ugly the other girls are. Ain't you got no social tact?"

The popular idea is that dictionary makers are about as infallible as makers of literature can be, and yet from the earliest times the mistakes of the lexicographers have furnished amusement.

When the Forty Immortals were engaged in making the dictionary of the French academy, the word "crab" came up for a gloss; they were about agreed to define it as "a little red fish pointed out that it was no doubt a good definition, save for the fact that the animal is not a fish; it is not red until it is boiled, and it does not walk backwards."

Bulley's dictionary defined the loriot or golden oriole as "a bird that being looked upon by one who has the yellow jaundice, cures the person and dies himself." Fenning, who was the next dictionary maker, was afraid of this, and merely said, "loriot, a kind of bird."

But one of the best bits of misinformation was given in the dictionary of Edward Phillips, who in one place declared that "a quaver is a measure of time in music, being the half of a quaver," which leaves the subject as clear as mud.

Ed Gallagher of the Concord Patriot, says the Manchester Emerald gets one over once in a while on the farmer squib of the Union. Here's Ed's latest.

"Our chief concern about the drought is that it will interfere with the onerous task of conducting a Londonberry by Col. Condon of the Manchester Union."

Have no fear, Ed, Col. Condon has irritation, no, we should say irritation, on the brain. If it ever works out the onions are safe.

We have advised the colonel never to plant onions near potatoes. An Irishman did so once and raised a poor crop of potatoes. The reason, he said, was that "the onions made the potatoes cry their eyes out."

A LOST ROMANCE
I have read in New England romances
Of herb scented bee balm and thyme;
The sweetbrier perfumes the breezes,
The eglantine boughs trail and climb.

But all the dim, fragrant enchantment
That dusk of the twilight air knows
Seems to rest in the soft, dewy petals
Of the heart luring, fragile musk rose.

I was born 'midst New England traditions
I was bred by the New England sea;
All the depth and the wealth of her story
Are a heritage fitting for me;
But the musk rose of olden romances
Was always the rose of a dream,
And since what is alluring entrance
I've longed for its faint, moonlit gleam.

So I've wandered through dooryard and garden
And never a musk rose was there.
But just lately some pink and white mallow
I glanced with no special care;
"Come back here," a friend observed cooily,
"See what old folks the real musk rose call!"

Alas for New England romances,
Alas for fond hopes doomed to fail!
My musk rose is pink and white mallow,
My musk rose is no rose at all!

—Elizabeth Minot.

WHEN GRANDMOTHER WAS A GIRL
The days of my girlhood how well I remember.
When tasks there were many and plays
Spells were few.

How I longed for a book and the shade of the maples,
Or a romp in the meadow where bright daisies grew.

"There was washing and scrubbing,
haking and churning,
The cows were to milk, and the garden to hoe,
And it seems when I stop to think it all over,
There was not one blessed minute that was not full of woe."

"When the day's work was over, and evening clocked 'round us,
My knitting I tackled a long stunt to do,
And when that was ended, although dreadful sleepy,
I was told I could then piece a quilt block or two."

"There was two miles to school three months in the winter,
With Webster's old spelling-book well thumbed and plain,
With feet full of chilblains and hands almost frozen,
I strove in this manner some knowledge to gain."

"To help out my patience, or stubborn persistence,
As day after day I endured the pain,
A hope of bright future there was always before me,
But scant was my pleasure and meagre the gain."

—Mary Kimmerly.

BEALS C. WRIGHT MEETS KENNEDY

In Championship Tennis Match Today

Beals C. Wright, who is well known to the tennis players in this city, having appeared several times at the Country club and one of the best men in these parts at the game, will cross racquets with A. E. Kennedy, Jr., of Philadelphia at the gymnasium today for the Rhode Island state championship and one-third interest in the $200 trophy bowl. Both men are among the leaders of the game and the match will be watched with close interest. Wright and Kennedy won their way to the finals yesterday by defeating Russell N. Dana and J. A. Ames, both of Rhode Island. The contests were very interesting, and while Wright was expected to win out, Kennedy's victory came as a surprise, owing to the fact that the winner is still in his teens and the defeated man is a veteran player. Kennedy's match went four sets, with a score of 6-1, 6-1, 6-6, 6-2. Wright's score was 7-5, 6-2, 6-0.

CITY SOLICITOR

SAYS LICENSE FEE SHOULD BE PAID FOR DANCE HALLS

The regular meeting of the license commission was held last night and the principal business before the board was the hearing of remonstrants to the granting of a license as a public amusement to Edward T. Cushing and Charles T. Bunker, co-partners of the Kaslo, a dance hall, located in Thorndike street, opposite Summer street.

Waiter H. Howe was the remonstrant, but an amicable agreement was reached prior to the scheduled hearing, and the license was granted.

The question as to whether the dance hall came within the jurisdiction of the license commission and should be licensed was referred to the city solicitor, the latter being as follows:

John J. Mullane, Esq., Chairman Board of License Commissioners, City of Lowell.

Dear Sir: The city solicitor has received the following letter from your board:

"Dear Sir: An application has been filed with the license commission of the city of Lowell for a public amusement to wit: A dance hall known as the Kaslo, on the George estate, Thorndike street, Lowell, Mass."

"Does such petition or application come within the jurisdiction of the license commission?"

"Very respectfully,
The License Commission of the City of Lowell."

The city solicitor is of the opinion that pursuant to Section 172 of Chapter 102 of the revised laws, the board of license commissioners may, if it sees fit, take jurisdiction of licensing public amusements of every kind and for which license they may in their discretion charge a fee. If in your opinion a public dance hall, at which a charge is paid for admission thereto, is in the nature of a public amusement, clearly then, does such dance hall come within the jurisdiction of the statute. The city solicitor, therefore, concludes that the license commission has the power to license public dance halls and charge a fee for such licenses, if you deem them places of amusement.

Respectfully submitted,
J. Joseph Hennessy,
City Solicitor.

The members of the license commission were of the opinion that the Kaslo was a public amusement and therefore should be licensed and therefore the remonstrants and abettors were notified. Judge Frederick A. Fisher appeared for Mr. Walter H. Howe, a remonstrant, while Messrs. Bunker and Hennessy were represented by Daniel J. Donahue.

It was announced that opposition to the granting of a license had been withdrawn. The commission then took the matter of the granting of the license under consideration.

The following minor licenses were granted:
Common victualler—James Stephen, 605 Market street. Ice cream and fruit—Asador, Ocasaplan, 355 Broadway. Hattie G. Wakefield, 520 Lawrence street. Henrietta Mara, 96 West Sixth street. Jennie M. Downs, 453 Bridge street. Express—Hill Trans-fer Co., four licenses. Auctioneer—Joseph W. Bruce, 93 Lewis street; Charles E. Vian, 124 Ennell street; Alexander Dubeau, 1111 North building; Martin J. Connelley, 1111 North building.

Ice cream and fruit—Charles Garot, 353 Broadway; Fred H. Peabody, 459 Bridge street.

GENERAL OROZCO DELAYS DEPARTURE

Of the Mexican Rebel Troops

JUAREZ, Mexico, Aug. 7.—Five locomotives with steam up are in the railroad yards here awaiting the evacuation of the troops under General Orozco, commander of the rebel forces in the north. But Orozco has decided to wait another day until the two federal armies to the south move into the position desired.

On the checkerboard of the ensuing campaign in the state of Chihuahua there was one move yesterday. General Rabago, with his federalists, moved north from Matamoros toward the pocket in which the federal army of General Sanjines is supposed to have caught Inez Salazar and his 1000 troops.

Salazar's forces remain at San Diego, according to rebel representatives here and are only a few miles from the federalists led by Sanjines. It is for this move of Rabago that Orozco evidently has been waiting for not until yesterday was there any actual preparation for departure here. Now all is ready to leave at an hour's notice.

It is clearly a game of checkmate that Orozco is playing. With Rabago's division on the southern division of the Mexican Northwestern railway the way is clear, it is believed, for the rebel headquarters to move directly south along the Mexican railway, meet Sanjines, who must escape from the federalists about Casas Grandes and after the junction proceed south into the Guerrero district on the southern division of the Northwestern.

If successful, this movement will keep

BOY WANTED TO SING ON THE STAGE

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—For stealing $888 from his father to satisfy his craving to sing on the stage and his love for a sporting life, it is alleged, 18-year-old Nathan Goldman of McLean street was held in $2000 for the grand jury yesterday by Judge Bennett in the municipal court.

Young Nathan, who has appeared on the stage in this city recently under the stage names of Nathan Clark and Joe Weston, is charged with 25 counts of the larceny of shoes and with one count of forgery.

Goldman had been stealing, it is alleged, from the firm of which his father is a member, H. Goldman & Son, dealers in shoe findings and shoes at 87 High street. Nathan was employed by the firm.

He is alleged to have ordered shoes from Clark-Hutchinson, shoe jobbers on Federal street, on a fake order of his father's firm, committing forgery. It is alleged by receiving the bills for them. He then, it is alleged, sold the goods, contending they had been paid for.
